OUT OF BANKS AND RISING. This was the scene along the Scioto River about three miles east of LaRue this morning. The river, a foot above flood stage, was out of its banks and still rising. The crest was expected to be reached sometime today. Damage to flooded farm crops and fields will be determined by how fast the water drains away. A total of .23 of an inch of rain was measured Tuesday.

End of Rain In Sight; Cool Weather Due

Streams Overflowing Banks; Fields Along Scioto Under Water

Rain, which filled farm fields, some roadways and an occasional basement, was scheduled to depart the Marion County area today following its first extended stay of this spring.

The weatherman today forecast fair and cool conditions tonight and Thursday.

All in all, enough precipitation has fallen since Sunday to more than satisfy most area residents. A total of 2.72 inches was recorded, with 1.41 falling Sunday, 1.08 Monday and .23 of an inch recorded Tuesday.

Streams Overflow Banks

The water gradually filled up streams and creeks and Tuesday rivers in the county began to overflow their banks.

Although damage is not expected to be extensive, cropland in the LaRue vicinity was under water this morning as the Scioto River was measured at the 10-foot level a foot over flood stage.

In the Scioto marsh in Hardin County, several thousand acres of farm land was under water this morning, with water up to first floor levels on some farms.

In nearly every respect, damage will be fully determined within the next 24 hours, when rising water is expected to crest and begin to recede.

No Roads Closed

County Engineer Reed Ours said no roads in the county were closed this morning because of high water, although some minor flooding was reported. Crops, presently submerged, could yet be saved if water does not stand on them for an excessive amount of time.

All considered, this first siege of wet weather has been modest, compared to last year's visit by the rainmaker. Thus far this spring, 6.77 inches have been measured officially. For the corresponding period a year ago, 13 57 inches deluged the county. However, the better part of June still remains to be contended with.

Tuesday's weather brought flash floods to many parts of Ohio and an occasional tornado warning, although no twisters were noted. Severe winds sent trees crashing to

Now Up to State

City Does Its Part On Traffic Project

Marion apparently has now met all requirements to qualify for state and federal aid in establishing a one-way street system as recommended in the arterial highway plan prepared for the city by Browne, Roberts and Associates.

This was the opinion of state highway department officials at both the department headquarters in Columbus and at the Division 6 office in Delaware today.

IF THE one-way street program is approved by the federal bureau of public roads, the city will be required to pay only five per cent of the estimated $500,000 cost of establishing the system. The city also will be required to prepare the plans and specifications, highway officials said.

Warren J. Cremean, urban projects engineer in the highway department's division of location and design, said today that in his opinion the city's declaration of intention to build underpasses on N. State and N. Prospect streets will qualify the proposed one-way street plan for federal and state approval. City Council adopted a resolution of intent Monday night.

HE ALSO said that the highway department will have determined by "not later than the end of next week" whether or not the printed version of the city's arterial plan was revised in accordance with highway department comments on the preliminary report.

The printed version of the report was delivered to Mr. Cremean's office in Columbus Friday by two city engineers, together with a copy of a resolution adopted May 26 by council directing the report be sent to the highway department for approval of form and content.

At Delaware, Frank Williams, division engineer, said today that the division has placed Marion on a high priority rating for traffic improvements in the next biennium.

HE SAID that the division previously asked for an allocation of $2,500,000 for traffic improvements here, including the cost of the underpasses, during the next biennium. He said that if the plans now are to establish the one-way streets first and phase in the underpasses later, the allocation request may be reduced accordingly.

The resolution of intent to build the underpasses adopted Monday night by council was to be sent to Mr. Wiliams today by Mayor Strong. The mayor said he was not going to sign the resolution but would let it become law without his signature. He said he would send a certified copy of it to the division engineer today. The mayor said he also would send a letter along to Mr. Williams explaining why he did not sign the resolution.

Providing the one-way street program is approved as the first phase of a project which eventually will include the underpasses, construction could start early in 1959 after the legislature provides the necessary state funds, the highway department officials said.

The city also would be required to make necessary provisions to provide its share of the cost and to provide the plans and specifications before construction could start, they said.

If the total cost of the one-way streets amounts to $500,000 as estimated, the city could provide its five per cent share from a highway improvement fund which may be used only on state and federal routes through the city and thus eliminate the need of a bond or note issue.

Pinder Faces Murder Count

Enters Innocent Plea In Killing Near Fulton

MOUNT GILEAD — Joel C. Pinder, 54, of near Fulton, charged with first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his wife Friday, pleaded innocent at his arraignment in Mayor Ralph Porterfield's court Tuesday.

The mayor ordered him held for the Morrow County grand jury without bond. No date was set for his appearance before the grand jury. The mayor said the grand jury may hear the case in two or three weeks. Meanwhile, Pinder will be held in the Morrow County jail.

Pinder's wife, Olive, was killed instantly when she was struck full in the face by the 16-gauge shotgun blast during an argument. Pinder told Morrow County Sheriff Frank Giffin he was only trying to scare his wife with the gun and did not know it was loaded. He said it went off after he removed a ramrod from the barrel, the sheriff reported.

A scheduled coroner's inquest into the incident was held Tuesday afternoon but the coroner, Dr. Frank Sweeney, had viewed the body and ruled the shooting a homicide Saturday. The shooting occurred at about 10:30 p.m. Friday in the kitchen of the Pinder home.

Hit-Skip Accident

Kenton Man, 75, Killed When Struck by Truck

KENTON — A 75-year-old Kenton pedestrian was killed instantly here today when struck by an unidentified truck which failed to stop at the accident scene, police reported.

The victim was identified as Emory Swartz. He was pronounced dead by Hardin County Coroner H. R. Johanson.

Officers said the truck, believed to be a yellow trailer-tractor combination, was northbound on Main S. and making a left turn onto Franklin St. when it struck the pedestrian about 3:30 a.m.

Police set up a road block for a truck answering the description and the highway patrol and deputies in surrounding counties were alerted.

A few hours later the driver of a truck corresponding with the description was picked up near Maumee by state highway patrolmen. The man was held for questioning, but denied any connection with the accident.

The truck, which was stopped at a roadblock, had blood stains on its undercarriage, patrolmen said.

Technicians of the police crime laboratory at Toledo were examining scrapings from the truck, an auto carrier, to determine if the blood is human.

40-Block Area Is Devastated

13 Die, 49 Hurt as Twister Strikes in El Dorado, Kan.

Fear Debris May Conceal More Bodies

Tornado Dips Down To Sweep Through Residential Sections

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — A tornado devastated 40 square blocks of a modest new residential area of El Dorado late Tuesday.

At least 13 persons were killed and 49 injured.

Lt. Col. W. W. Goodvin of the National Guard, in charge of the searching operations, said other bodies might be found in the rubble.

The commander of the Kansas Turnpike Highway patrol unit, Maj. Lloyd S. Vincent, said his men were unable to account for the occupants of three automobiles which the twister apparently swept off the toll highway at the northeast edge of El Dorado.

Find 13th Body

Searchers found a 13th body today, identified as that of Miss Bessie Diaz, 48. She was found in the rubble of her home.

One of those who poked through the ruins of a demolished house was Mrs. Charles W. Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler and her two daughters, Shirley 18, and Sharon 17, took refuge in the basement along with two neighbor women and their young children.

"We huddled in the northwest corner of the neighbor's basement," she said. "It didn't rain. It got awfully still. I went up to the front porch to see what was happening. I could see the funnel heading our way. I hurried back down the steps to the basement and suddenly the house was all gone. It sounded like the cracking of trees."

None of the seven was even scratched.

El Dorado (pop. 12,000) is 35 miles northeast of Wichita. Principal industries are two refineries, neither of which was damaged.

Power Lines Wrecked

The tornado swept away four main electric power lines, plunging the city into darkness. Telephone lines were severed and the municipal water mains were broken in several places.

While doctors worked feverishly by the feeble light of candles and flashlights at El Dorado's only hospital, National Guard troops from nearby Augusta and El Dorado's own unit were called to help civilian officers patrol the streets.

Looters swarmed into the stricken area as soon as darkness fell. At least three persons were arrested for rifling the debris.

As the tornado passed on its way, a reporter said, "A heavy black cloud clung to the eastern horizon. Over the city there was a fleecy cloud, white and beautiful.

"It looked like a shroud."

The tornado was the second disastrous storm of the month. A twister in northwest Wisconsin killed 28 persons and seriously injured 117 June 4.

It was 5:45 p.m. when the tor-

Accused Bank Robber Seized At Roadblock

Wounded Fugitive Is Nabbed in Ohio After Jailbreak in Indiana

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—An accused bank robber, who shot his way out of a Fort Wayne, Ind., jail, was shot and then arrested when caught between an Ohio Highway Patrol roadblock and Hicksville police Tuesday.

Darl Dee Parker, 27, of Canton, was captured on Ohio 18 near the Indiana line, about 18 miles west of here.

Parker was one of two men being held in the robbery of a Fort Wayne bank Oct. 18. He escaped from the maximum security cell in the Allen County, Ind., jail by drawing a .45 caliber automatic pistol on a deputy sheriff, locking him in a hallway, shooting off a lock and forcing another officer to open the jail's outside door.

When Parker left the jail, police said, he forced a mail carrier, Freddy Bolton, 30, to drive him from Fort Wayne to nearby Hicksville, about 25 miles.

At Hicksville, police there spotted the car headed back toward Indiana and followed it toward the patrol roadblock. When he reached the roadblock, Parker jumped from the car and started shooting, patrolmen reported.

In the exchange of gunfire which followed, Parker was hit by three of the five shots fired by Highway Patrolman L. Verbon.

Premier Adopts Stern Policy, Reprimands Commander

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle bluntly told the defiant insurgents in Algeria today to quit interfering in government, and slapped down his military commander there.

De Gaulle sent off a sharp note to his military commander in Algeria, Gen. Raoul Salan, after a Cabinet meeting devoted mainly to foreign affairs.

A cabinet spokesman said one decision was to invite Secretary of State Dulles to Paris to confer with de Gaulle next month.

In Washington, diplomatic sources reported such an invitation had been forwarded to Dulles.

De Gaulle's most immediate problem was to restore his authority over the troublesome territory of Algeria.

De Gaulle replied sharply to a resolution by the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety Tuesday opposing his plan for local elections in Algeria and condemning parliamentary government in France.

He criticized Salan for letting his name be used as approving the committee action, even though Salan later disavowed the resolution.

Outlines Position

The French Cabinet heard De Gaulle's foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, outline the government's position on a summit conference, one of the topics to be brought up when Dulles comes to Paris to see De Gaulle.

Informed diplomatic sources said the talks might be extended to include British Prime Minister Macmillan and German Chancellor Adenauer.

Tentatively Set July 5

The Dulles meeting has been tentatively set for July 5. A favorable response to the invitation is expected from the United States.

The announcement came at the end of De Gaulle's first full-scale cabinet meeting on foreign affairs.

Since taking office, De Gaulle has made diplomatic feelers for talks with the Western Powers. These would be a prelude to any possible summit conference with the Soviet Union.

Determined To Prevail

De Gaulle was reported determined to override defiance by the Algerian insurgent junta and hold local elections in Algeria next month.

While in Algeria he sought to re-establish government control over the area. He told the military-civilian junta which seized power there May 13 that he personally would direct Algerian affairs and the junta should confine

Hunt Pressed For Suspect in Assault Cases

Delaware Dam Area Searched; 2 Women Are Attack Victims

Sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and police joined in a big manhunt in the Delaware Dam area today, seeking a Negro suspect in the criminal assault on two farm housewives this morning.

Details of the attacks on the two women were not available immediately.

12 Cars Take Part

Twelve highway patrol cars are taking part in the search for the man, who authorities said had been posing as a junk buyer.

Officers said they believed the man to be the same one sought for a number of similar attacks dating back to last December.

The manhunt began shortly after 8 a.m. this morning when the Delaware County sheriff's department received reports of the two assaults which occured on farms in the dam area.

One of the state highway patrol cars joining in the search for the man was dispatched to the area from the Marion post, Cpl. D. M. Dewalt commander, reported.

Plane Aids in Hunt

The highway patrol also assigned one of its light patrol aircraft to the area to attempt to spot the suspect from the air, the Delaware patrol post reported at noon.

The plane was on duty until fuel ran low and it was forced to re-

Engineers Call Off Erie Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—A strike by 700 engineers, scheduled to start Thursday morning against the Erie Railroad, was called off today by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Chief Engineer Guy L. Borown of the Brotherhood revoked an earlier strike call at the request of the National Mediation Board. The board is to assign a mediator to hold hearings here. No strike can be called while mediation continues.

James Foley, secretary-general of Division 135 of the Brotherhood, said a strike call was issued Tuesday night to resolve "grievances of long standing." These, he said, include the state of sleeping facilities at the big Erie terminal at Jersey City.

Preferential Treatment Denied

Hagerty Claims Adams Will Clear Up Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today insinuations that Bernard Goldfine got preferred treatment from federal agencies because of friendship with Sherman Adams "will be proved completely false."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the matter will be quickly disposed of when Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower, returns to Washington from a New England fishing trip.

Hagerty added that Adams has the complete confidence of the President.

Hagerty refused to discuss evidence produced by House investigators Tuesday that Goldfine, a Boston industrialist, paid almost $2,000 in hotel bills over the last four years for Adams.

Hagerty brought up the subject at a news conference.

He declined to provide any information on the expected time of Adams' return, or to say what form Adams' rebuttal might take.

House investigators, after developing Tuesday testimony that Goldfine had paid the hotel bills, put off further inquiry until next week.

It is trying to get access to Goldfine's records.

Still undetermined in the public record was:

1. Whether Goldfine got favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-six contestants were eliminated in the first three hours of the National Spelling Bee this morning, leaving 32 still in the running.

The national championship will be decided Thursday morning after a second session this afternoon to cut the field.

Agree More Funds Needed

Ike, Macmillan Discuss Aid for Needy Countries

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain apparently agree that Western nations must make more money available to underdeveloped countries.

Diplomats said that Eisenhower and Macmillan, winding up three days of talks today, would leave it to experts to figure out what should be done.

They are reported to have considered enlarging the operations and capital of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund and possibly forming a new billion-dollar lending agency.

In addition to a final session with Eisenhower, the Prime Minister meets today with Secretary of State Dulles. His schedule also calls for a speech before a National Press Club luncheon.

Macmillan and Dulles, with their group of advisers, met for 2½ hours Tuesday. The State Department announced afterward that they concentrated on economic and financial problems and that no decisions were made.

Some Middle Eastern questions, presumably relating to the growth of Arab nationalism and the activities of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, were also discussed.

Macmillan dined informally with Eisenhower at the White House

Mixed Up in Dope, Unions

New York Raid Reveals Vast Interests of Thugs

By VICTOR RIESEL

Hand - picked detectives of the crack New York City Police Department who had been furloughed overnight to Sen. John McClellan's racket - busting counsel, Bob Kennedy, were fanning through the big town with fists full of subpoenas last week when they were dramatically ordered to hold up for a few hours.

VICTOR RIESEL

They had been about to close in on a band of racketeers, an inner corps, which had also been under the surveillance of Harry Anslinger's Federal Bureau of Narcotics, the FBI and the Justice Department's Southern District of New York, militantly directed by U.S. Attorney Paul Williams.

The big city sleuths were stopped just short of the mob's high command, which has an electronic grapevine all its own. For the moment Bob Kennedy's subpoenas hit the first of the mob's finance and brain trust, the rest would have melted into the summer night in big cars, bigger yachts and even larger private aircraft.

True, Counsellor Kennedy's field men were pinning their papers on racketeers who have been terrorizing legitimate business and labor leaders in the garment and trucking districts of three eastern states. But these same "executive board members" of Terror, Inc., it now appeared, were not dedicated to any single type of loose loot.

THE FEDERALS were about to pick them up on charges of financing narcotics smuggling. This is a highly profitable business where $10,000, properly placed in France, Syria or Italy, brings in enough heroin and cocaine to sell for a million dollars here.

Bob Kennedy's men held off so that the federals could make their arrests. Under the direction of Paul Williams and U.S. Attorney General William Rogers, they picked up some of the ringleaders at their swank beach homes at 6:45 a.m. on Wednesday, June 4. Then the McClellan committee's subpoenas were served later.

This coordination proved with the finality of an Einstein equation that the labor and industry rackets are tied in, through the same criminal cadres, with all other brutal mob operations.

Among those arrested was that mighty familiar figure in New York's garment area, multi-millionaire realtor and garment manufacturer, Ben Levine. The charge against him was financing the dope rings.

Levine, who smooth talked the terror for the old Lepke mob, is a power in the garment industry today. Picked up with him was Natale Evola, delegate to the Mafia Grand Council. Evola is listed in the files of the New York State Crime Commission as the president of three garment trucking and delivery companies.

These same files state that "he is believed to exercise control over the shoulder pad industry." The report states that manufacturers are required to "join" a shoulder pad association which Evola dominates. Others sought by the federals on narcotics charges and by McClellan for racketeering are intertwined in other trucking corporations.

THE FEDERALS believe that the money made from narcotics is invested in the legitimate businesses. The mobsters then drive competitors into bankruptcy by the terror wrought by the mere mention of their names — and by the muscle applied when the competition, or union officials, don't scare swiftly enough.

Substitute other criminality for dope smuggling and you have the same pattern right across the land.

The federals have found, for example, that there are at least 75 past and present officials with criminal records in the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union. There are hundreds more in other unions.

At the latest count, Bob Kennedy had a couple of hundred men under subpoena in eight or 10 states. After he completes his hearings into the Butchers' and Carpenters' he will swing into what is believed to be the most startling probe of all — revealing a criminal network steming out of Chicago in the hotel and restaurant field and the juke box industry, in which one Electrical Workers Union has been the enforcement arm of the rackets.

In addition to New York, Kennedy now is ready to open up on these interlocking outfits in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, five other Midwest states, Florida and Las Vegas.

Action Studied In Threatened Plane Disaster

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A Scott Air Force Base general says disciplinary action will be taken in the case of a C47 transport plane from Scott which almost collided with an airliner Monday.

He did not elaborate.

Lt. Gen. Joseph Smith, commander of the Military Air Transport Service, which has headquarters at Scott, said an instructor pilot of the military plane permitted it to be operated under simulated instrument conditions in part of the base's flying area where pilots are supposed to fly by sight.

An American Airlines pilot said Monday he was in an area near Staunton, Ill., about 35 miles northeast of St. Louis, when he had to dive his DC7 liner to avoid a collision. There were 53 persons aboard. The plane was en route to St. Louis from Chicago.

The instructor pilot of the military plane was identified as Capt. Laurence Herman, 40, of the 1405th Air Base Group at Scott. Maj. Joseph A. Kuhn, 34, with MATS headquarters, was pilot and was being checked on an instrument proficiency flight.

Scott is about 30 miles east of St. Louis.

East Germans Bid for Parley On Americans

Quick Release of Nine Is Promised if U.S. Stand Is 'Reasonable'

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany today promised quick release of nine U.S. Army men and their helicopter if the United States acts in a "normal and reasonable manner."

The statement, an editorial in the East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, did not specify what the Communists would consider "normal and reasonable."

The conciliatory editorial, which carries the weight of an official pronouncement, appeared after Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference the United States would negotiate if necessary with the East Germans for release of the eight Army officers and one sergeant whose helicopter strayed into East Germany last Saturday and ran out of gas.

The Red newspaper conceded that the helicopter might have gotten over East Germany accidentally and said the men in the plane had behaved correctly after landing.

"But violation of the air space of the (East) German Democratic Republic remains," the editorial continued.

Previously the Western Allies have insisted on dealing only with the Soviets as the occupiers of East Germany, contending that the East German government is an illegal regime which they do not recognize.

In another conciliatory move, the East German Ministry of Defense repudiated a suggestion by its army newspaper Volksarmee that the Americans might be tried as spies. The ministry said the editor of the paper had been disciplined for his "wrong and misleading" suggestion, and that the men were guilty only of violating East German air space.

Auto Accidents

Three minor traffic accidents were investigated Tuesday by Marion police.

Cars driven by C. R. Jacobs, 21, of 341 Olney Ave. and W. C. Pfeiffer, 17, of 267 E. Walnut St. collided in the 200 block on N. Main St. at an alley intersection at 12:24 p.m.

A car driven by Carol H. Jones, 59, of near Marion was struck from the rear on S. State St. just south of E. Church St. at 8:20 p.m. Driver of the other car was W. L. Burley, 24, of near Marion.

The only other accident in the city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

DESTROYERS MADE READY. Fourteen U. S. Navy destroyers are loading supplies at Boston's Commonwealth pier in preparation for a two-month cruise to Europe. Aboard the ships will be ROTC students from northwestern universities and colleges. The cruise will get under way when the ships leave Boston Thursday. (UPI Telephoto)

Break-In Attempt Fails, 2 Arrested

BUCYRUS — Two Bucyrus men are being held separately in Crawford County Jail and in city prison after their capture by authorities early today in a chase which followed an attempted breaking and entering at Scioto Trail Inn. They are Charles Ashworth, 22, of Park Ave. and Manzo Surgener, 42, of S. Poplar St. No charges were filed pending interrogation of the pair by Sheriff Elwood Jacobs. Neither man was armed.

Owner and operator of the inn which is located a mile north of Bucyrus on Rt. 4, W. E. Leuthold, had closed for the night but was still in the building when he heard a noise at the back door about 2:45 a.m. Leaving by another door, he found a car outside and wrote down the license number then as he returned inside he heard glass falling from the back door. Calling loudly to the men he grabbed his revolver as they fled and shot four times. Each shot hit the car which took off toward Bucyrus. Leuthold then called the Highway Patrol which in turn notified the sheriff and Bucyrus police. Policemen made the capture in Bucyrus.

By JOHN CROSBY

If It Moves, It's a Hit

BRUSSELS

If I were designing an exhibit at a World's Fair, I would be sure that something moved. Everything that moves here stops the show, including some pretty odd things.

JOHN CROSBY

The Netherlands pavilion, a very popular one, has created an artificial hunk of seashore with a full-scale wave that beats on the shore to show the action of the sea on Holland's coast. People stare at it entranced, as if a wave were the most unusual thing in the world.

Similarly in the Austrian pavilion, there's a nursery for children where they play store, draw on blackboards and do the things kids always do. People watch them through the plate-glass windows as if they never had seen children before.

IN OUR PAVILION, the models have the same hypnotic effect. In the French pavilion, an African native, doing something or other with a piece of leather, attracts crowds who can't possibly have the faintest idea what he's doing.

Conversely, Russia's Sputnik, certainly the most important exhibit in its way at the fair, doesn't attract much more than momentary attention because it just hangs there.

There are always surprises at a World's Fair. Here, everyone is talking about the Czechoslovakian pavilion which is beautifully designed and wonderfully interesting. The Czech restaurant is widely touted as the best at the fair, though the Czechs are not especially noted for cuisine.

Meanwhile, our own Brass Rail and the Russian restaurant are getting equally terrible notices for both their food and service.

THE ISRAELI pavilion is tiny by the standards of the big boys, but it is superbly used. Its simple, dignified displays just breathe the spirit of a new and vigorous nation and its little restaurant—a delicatessen really — in a grove of trees is a haven of serenity in the bustling and noisy fairgrounds.

One thing you get too much of, not only at this World's Fair but at any World's Fair, is machinery. At the Israeli pavilion there is no machinery. In its stead are baskets, hanging from the ceiling, of oranges and grapefruit.

We've all seen oranges and grapefruit before but somehow, after all that machinery, these seem like splendid displays which, like Austria's children, are novel and beautiful and well worth staring at.

While children and oranges are unknown in our "country," we do have color television and this is one of the big hits of the pavilion. RCA has built a little theater where you can watch the entertainment on the stage and also on color monitors.

Theoretically, people are supposed to watch for 15 minutes and then go away, but getting them to move on is quite a problem, chairs being at a premium here.

A COUPLE of young Americans — Jack Crutcher and John Schwartz — have the lovely problem of programming eight hours of television a day with no money to speak of — a task that would whiten the hair of anyone of Madison Ave. — and yet they claim they're having a ball.

"It's like the early days of television," says Crutcher. "We just throw the book away and do what we like."

Anyone, claim to fame or not gets interviewed at the RCA exhibit in a variety of languages. Elizabeth Arden was planning a Cinderella program, plucking women from the audience and beautifying them in living color right before the audience.

The color TV display is strictly a closed-circuit proposition, none of it going on the air. However, at the press building, Belgian TV programs three hours of World's Fair every day.

AGAIN, THIS takes a lot of ingenuity. Operating out of a couple of tiny studios, the Belgians grab visiting dignitaries and interview them in their own language and then translate it into either Flemish or French, a tedious business.

The fair teems with colorful costumes and handicrafts and the Belgian TV manages to get much of this on the air, plus, of course, the songs and dances in the dozens of languages.

Eurovision got Benny Goodman and his band for nothing and the Belgians would dearly love to get all our attractions that way. However, performing rights, union rules and copyright laws make this difficult. No matter how you try to explain this, the Belgians refuse to understand it.

"We want it to be free," said Bert Leysen, who is in charge of the Flemish telecasts on this bifurcated country. "We don't care who pays for it so long as we get it for nothing. In Russia somebody pays. Somebody should pay in America."

It's very hard to explain that we capitalists are too poor to offer our performers to the Europeans as freely as the Russians.

Poisoning of Fish Is Traced to Farm South of Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Pollution of the Little Scioto River, which resulted in hundreds of fish being killed in Crawford County, has been cleared up, Crawford County Game Protector Emory Jividen announced Tuesday.

Mr. Jividen said the pollution originated in an area about three miles south of Bucyrus near a roadside park on State Rt. 4. It was traced to the Hide-A-Way farm south of Bucyrus, owned by Dr. D. G. Arnold, Bucyrus surgeon.

Contamination of a two-mile section of the stream resulted from liquids draining from ensilage flowing through tiles from silos on the Arnold farm to the stream. The silos were being filled with chopped, green hay. Fermenting juices formed lactic and acetic acids, reducing the oxygen content of the stream to near zero, Mr. Jividen reported. The lack of oxygen resulted in the death of many fish and minnows.

Mr. Jividen, who was assisted in his investigation of the situation by John N. Reis, district fish management agent at Findlay, said the contamination had been "unintentional" and that the situation causing it had been corrected.

New Jersey has no lieutenant governor. The president of the state senate rules when the governor is absent.

Vetoes Cause Unnecessary Delay

The mayoralty veto of four pieces of legislation dealing with the southeast suburban sewer project provides an unnecessary delay for an undertaking in which the need for speed has been an important factor from the beginning.

The legislation was passed unanimously by City Council May 26 and could have been signed the next day. As it was Mayor Wendell L. Strong took no action on it for 8 of the 10 days allowed by law before announcing his decision to veto.

The veto action did not become official until the messages were read to council Monday night and another 10 days must elapse, starting Tuesday, before council can make its move to override the vetoes.

Council almost certainly will do exactly that at the next regular meeting June 23, but in the meantime the project will have been delayed nearly a month.

The mayor's approach to major civic undertakings is eluding us a little more each day. He has become a staunch opponent of the Browne and Roberts traffic report and the underpasses, but he has yet to give any truly logical reason for his position.

We fail to understand the vetoes of the southeast sewer legislation in the face of almost certain passage by council unless the primary motivation were political.

If that be true we hasten to point out that, in the main, political futures are forged by accomplishment and not through day-by-day maneuvering that quite probably will be forgotten by election day.

In the early weeks of his term Mayor Strong took numerous steps that indicated he would be a strong leader in the fight for progress.

But in the last month or two he has developed a negative approach that will be impressive for its lack of achievement if extended over a two-year period.

Council gives every indication of getting the big jobs done anyway, but it would be so much easier if the administration would decide to pull in the same direction.

When a Man Holds a Tiger

The most revealing news of the next several months may be a series of little reports reflecting what is happening in automobile plants where United Auto Worker contracts have expired.

No one of these little reports will reveal much in itself. But all of them together may very well show something happening inside the economically and politically powerful union dominated by Walter Reuther.

The question that has been posed by the necessity of keeping the union's members on the job without a contract is whether or not union discipline will be adequate to avert wildcat walkouts and slowdowns.

Mr. Reuther has undertaken to keep his organization's members on the job so faithfully and so enthusiastically that employers will find no excuse to close their plants. In the absence of a contract, employers could do anything they wanted to do in the name of operating efficiency, with no union recriminations.

For example, one employer has tried to regain control of shop stewards who have been drawing pay for performing no productive work. This employer thinks they should go through the motions of working at least an hour at the beginning of each shift, at least another hour after lunch and another hour before quitting time. This position would have precipitated a crisis if the UAW had been given a contract before the deadline passed with no agreement on terms for a new contract. As things worked out, there was only a flurry, then UAW workers were quieted by international representatives dispatched to the scene to keep workers on the job at any cost.

Even as redoubtable a disciplinarian as John L. Lewis had had bad moments when United Mine Workers seemed to be asking more of its rank-and-file members than they could be expected to deliver. Mr. Reuther, with a vastly larger problem of discipline and two dozen times as much potential opposition, will have bad moments, too.

In the past, when his auto workers got out of hand, he could blame it on someone else, or something else, or circumstances beyond his control. It was nothing worse than a minor violation of contract and nothing would come of it anyway.

In the future, if his people get out of hand, there will be no way to shift the blame. It will be a reflection on his ability to maintain discipline in the union — and by that token it will be a reflection on his strength as president of the union.

Employers in the auto industry, like those in other strongly organized industries, such as steel, prefer that the unions they must deal with should show good discipline. They know that eventually Mr. Reuther will be making contracts with them — and they want him to be strong enough to keep his agreements.

But in the meantime, he, himself, has decided to try to run his union without any agreements — which means that he is like a man who has volunteered to hold a tiger with his bare hands.

One Charge at a Time

Cyrus Eaton, generally speaking, needs no help in his tiff with the chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities. Mr. Eaton is well able to take care of himself, having attained an age and a degree of wealth that makes him immune to personal injury.

But those who close in when notables bicker are always in danger of being knocked askew by a stray stone. In this bicker, the stray stone to keep an eye on is Mr. Eaton's opinion that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other federal security agencies are "snooping, informing and creeping up on people."

This is opinion, and Mr. Eaton is free to speak his mind. It is of no interest to the House Committee on un-American Activities what a citizen thinks about any federal bureau or agency. At least, it is of no legitimate interest.

But if Mr. Eaton has been so friendly with Soviet officials that he might be in technical violation of the Logan Act, the un-American Activities Committee, or some committee, should find out about it. The Logan Act says no U.S. citizen shall be in touch with the agents of a foreign government in an effort to influence U.S. foreign policy.

Anyone who gets struck accidentally by the idea that a citizen can be investigated for criticizing even the well-thought-of FBI needs to be restored to his senses — and this might include the chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Walter O'Malley and the Trinkets

According to legend, Peter Minuit swapped $24 worth of trinkets for Manhattan Island in 1626, thereby starting the real estate business in America. The legend has bearing on the deal whereby Walter O'Malley swapped a baseball trinket called the Dodgers for a valuable piece of real estate in Los Angeles.

To be sure, Mr. O'Malley had to sweat out a referendum among the natives, who questioned the judgment of their chiefs after the bargain had been struck. But as far as that is concerned, there may have been natives who lifted eyebrows over the deal with Mr. Minuit.

If they had forced a referendum, the outcome probably would have been the same as it was in Los Angeles. The natives of Manhattan would have assigned more value to the trinkets, which they wanted, than a lot of land that was undeveloped because no one knew what to do with it.

Los Angeles wanted the Dodgers for their trinket value.

Mr. O'Malley wanted Los Angeles for its value as a producer of wealth for his enterprise. He got what he wanted, and Los Angeles got what it wanted, which is all it has taken to make a real estate deal anywhere in America, starting with the famous Minuit deal in 1626.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

An Army GI may soon be part soldier, part grasshopper, part firecracker and part kangaroo, eligible for decorations in each category. A rocket strapped to his back gives him race-horse speed on the ground and barn-swallow speed over rivers, lakes and other obstacles.

This reduces his squawk, "My feet hurt," and substitutes, "My back is overheated." The invention depresses sergeants.

They had enough trouble with him on the ground. Now they have to be bird watchers.

MOTHER VISITING camp may be told her boy is up in the air with a shoulder rocket out of control. The Army can slap a rocket on mommer so she can visit her boy and deliver cookies and new socks.

"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching" was the old Army song but it will be replaced by "Glow Little Glow Worm," with "Old Soldiers Never Die; They Just Get Lost in the Overcast" as an encore.

PFC. OSCAR PURKEY writes home: "Dear Mom: I enlisted as a foot soldier but am a combination Roman candle, airman and chimney spark.

"The Army has been taking me on long hikes for a year and now tells me I got to qualify as a 'Night Before Christmas' reindeer with the captain yelling, 'To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall. Now dash away, dash away, dash away all.'

"You won't get as many letters from me from here in on account of there are no rocket mailboxes.

"Jumping across the country may be okay instead of hiking but what if my rocket overshoots my objective? I could be ordered to leap to a small village and wind up on the roof of a big city off-limits night club. Would it be a case of AWOL or just an error in propulsion?

"One of my buddies got a medal. He was cut off from his command at the base of a mountain with his rocket fuel exhausted and rudder trouble. When he opened his air map he found it was a subway map! There was a fireworks shop nearby. He broke in, stole a dozen skyrockets and made his objective. The enemy let him pass, thinking he was a neon light.

"I must close now, as the sarge is cranking me for a new test. Love. Oscar."

Big Lie Technique

By David Lawrence

Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, didn't tell the truth to a nationwide television audience on "Meet the Press" last Sunday. He said that there is no censorship of the news dispatches sent out from Moscow by correspondents for foreign newspapers.

Lawrence

The Soviet envoy also repeated his innuendo that the United States government wants war whereas the American people do not.

Here is the question as asked by Clifton Daniel of The New York Times, son-in-law of former President Truman:

"Why is it that the Soviet Union is the only major power left in the world today that still has a press censorship of news dispatches leaving the country? Why do you feel that is necessary?"

The Soviet ambassador made this amazing answer: "Well, I don't think there is such a censorship as you refer to. I simply do not know the details of what the procedure is regarding dispatches, their uses and so on, but so far as I know, all of the foreign correspondents that are accredited there in our country, they freely send their dispatches and differences and all that sort of thing."

MR. DANIEL, who has had firsthand experience with the censorship in Moscow, replied:

"I am sorry to tell you, sir, that having been a correspondent there, I can tell you that is not the case. I think you must have been misinformed. Every dispatch that leaves the Soviet Union from a regularly accredited correspondent is submitted to censorship. The name in Russian is called 'glavlit.' I am sure you have heard of it.

"Ambassador Menshikov: Have your dispatches abroad been sent?

"Mr. Daniel: My dispatches were sent but my dispatches were quite often edited, shall we say, by the censor.

"Ambassador Menshikov: Therefore, I understand all news that you want to send outside of our country, they actually went outside?

"Mr. Daniel: Not all.

"Ambassador Menshikov: Well, I don't know."

LATER ON in the television interview the ambassador was asked how, if an agreement was made to suspend nuclear tests, the American people could trust the Soviets because they had already violated the armistice agreement in Korea. But Mr. Menshikov denied this and said:

"I think we should believe each other—that is the only way."

Evidently the Soviet ambassador thinks that what he says over the television networks must be accepted as truth despite evidence to the contrary.

This correspondent last week wrote a dispatch calling attention to the Soviet envoy's statements on June 2 over a radio network on a program called "Reporters' Roundup."

Mr. Menshikov had declared, in effect, that, while the American people don't want war, he wasn't so sure about the attitude of the government of the United States.

What the ambassador said in casting doubt on the intentions and sincerity of American government officials—it was stated in these dispatches—would under past precedents result in his being declared "persona non grata" by the State Department. This means that, when an ambassador is no longer acceptable as a person, he is asked to leave the country so another ambassador can be sent to replace him.

Ambassador Menshikov has just been given an opportunity to repudiate or correct the bad impression left by his previous statement. Here is the question asked last Sunday by John Hightower of The Associated Press and a member of the panel of "Meet the Press"—and here also is the ambassador's avoidance of an answer.

"MR. HIGHTOWER: There has been some question about a comment of yours some days ago as to whether you think the United States government wants to avoid war. What do you think?

"Ambassador Menshikov: Well, I should say you better not ask me such questions. Otherwise my friend, David Lawrence, will again declare me persona non grata."

This effort toward levity has not impressed members of congress. Rep. Michael A. Feighan (D-Ohio) after hearing the broadcast on Sunday, told the House of Representatives in a speech on Monday that Mr. Menshikov ought to be sent out of the country because, among other reasons, he is responsible for the acts of the third secretary of his embassy who was caught in an attempt to buy American military information. Mr. Feighan said:

"Menshikov is doing damage on the American scene ten times more terrible than that of an ordinary espionage agent. . . .

"I have discussed Menshikov's activities with State Department officials occupying high policy positions and not one has denied the fact that good and sufficient reasons exist to declare Menshikov persona non grata.

Russian Ambassador Menshikov has 'systematically violated the norms of behavior for diplomatic representatives.' "

But the Soviet envoy evidently thinks he can ignore the truth in his television appearances and continue to try to mislead the American people.

Tips to Show Business

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Who took the glamor out of show business?

"The stars themselves," said Vivian Blaine firmly. "They did it by letting down the bars of their privacy and inviting the world into their homes. Of course, a star has to have a home life, or his existence is pretty vacuous.

HAL BOYLE

"But I doubt that show business has been enhanced by allowing the public to come behind the scenes and see what makes a star tick in every aspect of his life.

"What show business needs is a little more mystery."

MISS BLAINE, who provides some of the more uproarious laughs in the hit Broadway musical, "Say Darling," also thinks many stars are getting entirely too folksy in their attire.

"Movie stars, male or female, make a big mistake in going around sloppily dressed," she remarked. "The fans look at them and ask, 'This is glamor?'

"I don't say you have to be glittering all the time, but you certainly should be neat and well-groomed."

"Viv" feels the American housewife, as well as stars of stage, screen and television, could do with a bit more sprucing up.

"Women should dress up more—even if the only one who sees them during the day is the grocer," she said. "There is such a thing as self-respect and self-discipline.

"You can't let yourself go. If you let one thing go, everything can go."

Everyone, she believes, does well to create at least some aura of mystery, and to retain some area of personal privacy.

"SHOW BUSINESS today has become everybody's business," continued the sprightly blonde singer, frowning. "While fans are flattered to think they are in the real know, they also miss something—the chance to idolize and realize. If there is no mystery left, there is nothing to idealize."

How can the old glamor of the entertainment world be restored?

"I doubt if much can be done now," said Vivian frankly. "It would be a long and subtle process.

"You can't do it any more by having a star hide behind a wall. That would only make Mr. and Mrs. American Public break out laughing.

"They have tried to bring back the glamor bit, as in the case of Marilyn Monroe. But how? I'll bet the bust, waist, and hip measurements of Greta Garbo and Pola Negri weren't widely published. Their glamor was based on a sense of mystery."

New Roadblocks Arise

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Any agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union on ending nuclear tests now looks a long way off. Things were moving along slowly, but moving, and then—wham.

The wham was supplied by Secretary of State Dulles. He suddenly threw Red China into the picture and, for good measure, the Sahara Desert. Both raise new problems in reaching an agreement. The way Dulles did it was startling.

President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are in the process of agreeing to have their technical experts—scientists—meet to discuss ways of policing a ban on nuclear testing to prevent cheating.

IF THE SCIENTISTS could agree, that would be just a first step. There'd still have to be formal agreements between governments. All this would take time, to be sure.

Sitting in on the technical talks would be the United States, the U.S.S.R. and Britain — the only three powers which have nuclear weapons and have tested them—plus France, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

But shortly after Eisenhower's latest letter to Khrushchev on the subject was released Tuesday, Dulles said some of Red China would have to be included in any inspection system against nuclear tests.

Dulles indicated American technical experts had advised him detection stations in Red China must be part of a policing system to prevent Soviet cheating. He spoke of the possibility the Soviet Union might run tests on her Asiatic neighbor's territory. This is where the problem starts.

THIS COUNTRY officially doesn't even recognize the existence of the Red Chinese government. This is a fiction, of course, and one for which this country has been criticized.

Red China is not known to have nuclear weapons. Therefore, it might reasonably be expected to object to inspection posts within its borders. So a whole new problem was tossed by Dulles into any attempt at ending nuclear tests.

It's possible Red China might agree — but certainly not in a hurry — if it were given official world recognition by admittance to membership in the United Nations. This country has insisted on keeping Red China out of the U.N.

Such a move would open the way to getting Red China the recognition it wants and to getting this country off a hook with its allies. For example, this way:

If Congress were persuaded the only way to get an end to nuclear testing would be to let Red China into the U.N., perhaps American opposition might stop. All this couldn't be done tomorrow.

MEANWHILE, there's the question of inspection in the Sahara Desert, which is in French territory. It would be the likely place for the French to hold nuclear tests, if they had nuclear weapons. So far as is known, they don't.

But they want them. There's grave doubt the French would agree to a ban on nuclear testing before they have time to develop nuclear weapons and try them out.

To do otherwise would be to leave only the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain with tried and true nuclear weapons. That's an almost impossible position for the French, who consider themselves a major world power.

By injecting Red China into this muddled picture — with the long delay involved in getting Chinese agreement—it would seem Dulles has provided the French with time to develop their weapons and test them before agreeing to a ban on tests.

It seems a safe guess that now Dulles has immeasurably slowed up the whole buiness.

Emancipation!

By Truman Twill

Recent events make me feel sure that if men can hang on a few years longer the scourge of home - cooking will be under control.

This is a matter I report on from time to time, believing it is more important than anything else going on in the world, including the breakaway from colonialism in Algeria.

A harder blow for emancipation would be struck if home-cooking could be routed than if Red China were to spit in Khrushchev's eye.

Home-cooking has enslaved the human race since the first cave woman squatted over a twig fire and singed the hair off a dinosaur-tail tip that her old man had sawed off with a sharp stone and brought home for dinner.

The idea that women, most of whom had no more aptitude for cooking than a pig has for free ballooning, should be consigned to kitchen work just because they married men and became "homemakers" is ticketed for extinction.

Men finally figured out how to relieve their female friends of soap-making and candle-dipping and now are making sensational progress to relieve them of food preparation.

If the shift from amateurism to professionalism also relieves men, that will be a still further gain. But one way and another, the preparation of food must be turned over to people who know what they are doing and how to take advantage of modern efficiency.

If the idea seems to be an insult to women, look at it this way:

Until a few years ago, mothers routinely made up batches of special goops suitable for feeding babies. It was rough on mothers, tough on babies. Whereupon, professionals moved in and made available to mothers — and babies —a wide line of prepared baby food. Today, any mother who spent hours of time straining vegetables and mashing up liver to feed a baby would be as out of line as a mother making her own soap or spinning her own thread.

What is good enough for babies eventually will be good enough for fathers. Except for men who stubbornly insist on home-cooking, or who married culinary cuties, men will be able to have professionally prepared meals in their own homes.

They will have a choice of all their favorites by pushing a selector button. Their wives will have no more to do than pop the things into the oven, or to take them out of the freezer to thaw, if they are cold plates.

A generation will grow to maturity without having Ole Ma with a red neck, sweat on her brow and a wild look in her eye as she struggles with the food supply in the raw. Jokes about brides' biscuits will be as unfunny as jokes about kerosene lamps.

Family life will no longer be blighted by the misfortune of building it on the home-making ability of some female who goes to pieces when she tries to boil water and cannot understand the difference between a burnt offering and a beefsteak.

There will be no law against amateur cooking for those who like it and perhaps are good at it. They can cook if they feel like it. But the law which has said for thousands of years that women who marry men must zip into the kitchen and start mashing turnips to prove they are on the ball will be repealed.

If men can hang on a few more years, they will be emancipated and so will their wives. The prepared dinner is that close to fruition.

Injunction Sought

Hearing Opens in Clinic Suit Against Lastrapes

A hearing on the Frederick C. Smith Clinic's suit for a permanent injunction to restrain the Marion County practice of Dr. Thomas S. Lastrapes opened this morning in Common Pleas Court.

Attorneys for both sides presented opening statements and the clinic called Dr. Philip W. Smith to the stand as its first witness.

Edwin L. Mitchell, of the Strelitz, Halberstein and Mitchell law firm which represents the clinic, said the clinic will seek to prove that Dr. Lastrapes violated a contract with the clinic and should be restrained from practicing in Marion County for four years from Jan. 1, 1957.

MR. MITCHELL said he intends to prove that Dr. Lastrapes, a former clinic staff member, has damaged the clinic's business by engaging in practice here after leaving the clinic.

Walter D. Moore, of the Moore, Myers and Parsell law firm, one of two law firms representing Dr. Lastrapes, said he preferred to wait until evidence had been presented before outlining the course the defense will take.

Dr. Smith, a partner in the clinic and a member of the surgical staff, was questioned by Mr. Mitchell concerning operations of the clinic and circumstances surrounding the contract between the clinic and Dr. Lastrapes.

The contract and other correspondence between the clinic and Dr. Lastrapes were introduced as exhibits this morning.

The clinic has contended that the contract contained a covenant in which Dr. Lastrapes agreed not to practice within the county for four years from the termination of his association with the clinic.

IN HIS TESTIMONY this morning, Dr. Smith said he first contacted Dr. Lastrapes early in 1954 when the clinic was seeking to employ an orthopedic surgeon. He said the clinic interviewed the physician in April, 1954, and again early in June, 1954.

He said the contract was negotiated with Dr. Lastrapes on June 21, 1954, although his employment was not to become effective until July, 1955, when he would complete his residency.

Dr. Smith testified that Dr. Lastrapes raised no objections to the contract between the time it was mailed to him and the time it was returned to the clinic after he signed it.

Dr. Smith said that to his knowledge Dr. Lastrapes had never been in Marion prior to his interviews here.

The injunction case, which has been assigned through Friday, is being heard by Judge Jay S. McDevitt of Mount Vernon. He presided at the first hearing in February, 1957, while Judge Paul D. Smith was on vacation.

Since the initial hearing on Feb. 6, 1957, the suit has been pending while attorneys filed a series of motions and amended petitions. In the latest development before today's hearing, Judge McDevitt overruled a demurrer to the clinic's fourth amended petition.

In addition to Moore, Myers and Parsell, Dr. Lastrapes is represented by the local law firm of Moloney and Kelly. Also representing the clinic is the law firm of Donithen, Michel and Davis.

Miss Claudine Scranton Wed to John Robertson

In St. Mary Catholic Church at 10 o'clock in the morning on Saturday, June 7, Miss Claudine Scranton became the bride of John Robertson. Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor. Organ music was played by Miss Angela McNamara. White carnations were arranged in the altar vases.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Selora Scranton of 265 Cass Ave. and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Solon Robertson of Caledonia.

Give in marriage by her brother-in-law, Cecil Lessig of Marion, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace, net and taffeta. The bodice of lace was lined with taffeta and styled with a low rounded neckline and short sleeves. It came to a point at the waistline in front. The floor length full skirt, gathered at the waistline, was of two layers of net over taffeta. She wore white net mitts and her fingertip length veil was caught to a crown of satin trimmed with pearls. Her jewelry was a single strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

MAID OF HONOR and bridesmaid for the bride were her sisters, Miss Mary Scranton and Miss Christina Scranton, respectively. Their gowns were fashioned alike of light blue taffeta with fitted bodices, scooped necklines, short sleeve and extremely full flared skirts worn over hoops. Short veils were held by light blue headbands. They carried bouquets of red Happiness roses tied with light blue ribbon.

Raymond Cox of Marion served as best man for the bridegroom and seating the guests were Fred McCumber of Prospect and Weiley Litzenberg of Marion.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Scranton chose a blue lace dress with which she combined blue and white accessories. Mrs. Robertson was attired in a dress of gray lace lined with pink taffeta and she combined with it pink accessories. Each had a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother where the table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in blue and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Encircling the base of the cake were blue and white flowers. Bouquets of spring flowers were throughout the room. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Cecil Lessig of Marion, Mrs. Ruth Gix of Prospect and Miss Ruth Westberg of Lakeland, Fla.

County's May Dairy Figures Are Released

Topping DHIA, O-S Tests Are Lawrence, Miller Milking Herds

There were 20 milking herds on owner-sampler test in May in Marion County and 18 on the dairy herd improvement program, according to Ellwood Parrott, county extension director.

The owner-sampler herds represented 309 cows; DHIA animals numbered 522.

For those dairymen on the O-S test, cows averaged 1,008 pounds of milk and 38 pounds of butterfat. DHIA cows pailed an average of 1,102 pounds of milk and 39 pounds of fat. For the 10 high herds in the DHIA program, the average production per cow was 1,212 pounds of milk and 44 pounds of fat.

The top herds in the owner-sampler test last month were as follows:

	No. Cows	Ave. Lbs. Milk	Ave. Lbs. Bf.
William Miller	17	1,350	52
Mrs. T. Watzel	6	973	51
Carl Klingel	17	1,330	48
L. Mack & Son	21	1.064	47
Alfred Laucher	18	1,336	45

Top herds in dairy herd improvement testing were:

	No. Cows	Ave. Lbs. Milk	Ave. Lbs. Bf.
Paul Lawrence & Son	46	1,512	56
John Young	24	1,369	46
Gomer Johnson	40	1,307	45
Edward Mantey	25	1,186	43
William Earl	21	1,218	43

In owner-sampler herds, William Miller had 10 cows producing over 40 pounds of butterfat. Lowell Mack had 15 and Alfred Laucher had 13 also turning the trick.

Some 36 Lawrence cows got over the 40-pound mark in DHIA. John Young had 17; Gomer Johnson, 26, Edward Mantey 15 and William Earl 12.

Conservation Camp Is Slated For July 14-19

Again this year, as in many years past, the Marion County Soil Conservation District will sponsor a boy and a girl to the 4-H Conservation camp at Camp Ohio in Licking County.

W. L. Williams, head of the local conservation office, says the date of the event will be July 14-19.

Application forms have already been mailed to some 15 eligible youths. They must be returned to the office by June 10.

As before, prospective campers must be sons or daughters of cooperators of the county soil conservation district, interested in the aspects of conservation in the area, and an active 4-H member.

The camp activities include instruction on various phases of conservation, field trips and a balanced recreation program, according to Mr. Williams.

In order to insure that youngsters representing the county are well chosen, applicants are asked to identify soil types on their parents' farm, note practices planned for the farm, such as tiling, waterway constructions and contouring, tree planting and liming. And, they must point out what practices have been accomplished, the crop rotation followed on the farm and their own reason for wanting to attend the camp.

Nancy Lee Smith and Harold Isler were 1957's county representatives to the camp.

Hedges Gets FFA State Speech Title

Arlan Hedges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hedges of the Green Camp community, took first place in the State FFA Speech contest at the state FFA convention in Columbus.

Young Hedges, a junior next year in the Green Camp School, won top prize of $100 donated by the state FFA association with his talk on "Science and the Future Farmer."

It was his first crack at public speaking. He won the district title by edging Prospect's Dick Seiter. Arlan will represent Ohio in the regional contest slated for later this summer.

He was tutored for the task by Lowell Hedges, vocational-agriculture teacher at Green Camp.

Milk Powder Is Big Venture at Wyandot Plant

'Roller' Method Is In Operation at Chief Dairy

By ALLAN BOVEY
Marion Star Farm Editor

"Roller Process Non-Fat Dry Milk."

Such is the legend stamped on the bags and drums representing over 1½ million pounds of powdered milk manufactured yearly by the Chief Dairy of Upper Sandusky.

It's a big business, this milk-drying, and Chief Dairy, a subsidiary of the Isaly Dairy Co. of Youngstown, has worked it into a schedule that includes, as primary enterprises, churning and cheese making. As a matter of fact, from 1,000 to between 6,000 and 7,000 pounds of milk powder are manufactured in a day's time, with production dependent on milk supply and surplus.

Head of Chief's operations is E. P. (Eddie) Landversicht, an employe since 1933, manager since 1948, and a longtime dairy industrialist.

CHIEF DAIRY has been a part of the Isaly system since 1934, and, as such, finds a market for 65 per cent of its dairy products in Isaly stores, a circumstance, however, that does not apply to its powdered milk. It was after this affiliation that powdered milk became an important interest. Prior to that, the plant had been utilized primarily as a sour cream station.

The powdered milk made by Chief is for commercial purposes. That is, to say, it goes to confectioners (bakers and candymen), soup makers and the meat packing industry. It is not the type of milk powder found on grocery store shelves packaged for home use, although, as Chief officials emphasize, it is a Grade A food product.

What is this business of roller processing?

Milk powder is made one of two ways — by roller or spray, Mr. Landversicht points out.

In spray manufacture, condensed milk is forced into the air within a huge dryer tank in minute streams. The intense heat transforms these streams of liquid milk almost instantaneously to powder. Thus transformed, it falls to the bottom of the dryer bin, ready to be moved out for further sifting and processing.

With rollers, the milk, also in condensed form, is fed between two giant rollers, each of which is 90 inches long and 36 inches in diameter. The rollers are superheated to 220 degrees F. As the milk passes from holding tanks to the rollers, microscopically-thin sheets of milk are literally baked on each roll. A knife slices off these sheets of milk, dropping them into a pit in flake form.

THE FLAKES are augered to a hammermill, run through it, and, presto—powdered milk. In short order the product is put into 100-pound bags or 200-pound drums and is ready for shipment.

Mr. Landversicht points out that there is roughly 8½ pounds of powder to be had from every 100 pounds of skimmed milk. A total of 21 trucks carries milk to Chief from patrons of in all or part of eight counties, including Marion, Morrow, Crawford, Seneca, Union, Delaware, Hardin and Logan. The job is carried on every day of the week, with Christmas the only time when a plant shutdown is complete.

Chief facilities can powder about 400 pounds of milk an hour if it is precondensed—as most is. The production potential is cut virtually in half otherwise.

An interesting fact about the rolling is that unless the "sheet" of milk coming off the rolls is thin enough, it carmelizes, or turns dark from being overheated. Bakers, particularly, are reluctant to use carmelized powder due to the coloration that would appear in their product.

The plant, under the general supervision of Willard Zehfus, now in his 25th year with the comany, realizes about 15 per cent of its gross income each year from powdered milk sales.

No plans are in the offing to convert the roller process at Chief to spray. Why? The cost, primarily. A setup such as Chief uses now represents a capital outlay of perhaps $25,000. Spray facilities would necessitate an expenditure of some $65,000.

However, times may change the situation. Mr. Landversicht observes that for some time now the government has supported spray powder at two cents higher than that made by the roller method. The reason is apparently in the higher investment for spray machinery.

MOST OF THE powder at Chief is spoken for ahead of time. The balance is stored until needed. It is interesting to know that the powdered product has all the nutritional value of whole milk with the butterfat removed. It can be reconstructed simply by adding water.

One of not more than three or four manufacturers of roller process powdered milk in Ohio, Chief Dairy plans to continue this unique method of taking care of its excess milk. It will also continue to dry buttermilk, and to maintain its other interests, including the making of whole and skim milk cheese.

Concludes Mr. Landversicht: "People get the idea that powdered milk is not fit for much more than livestock feed. They should remember that it's wholly edible, is a good nutritious food and is powdered only because that's the best way to keep it until it can be made use of."

PRESERVING A SURPLUS. Upper Sandusky's Chief Dairy concerns itself primarily with cheese making. But powdered milk is a big job there, accounting for 15 per cent of the plant's gross income each year.

UPPER: Eddie Landversicht (right), plant manager, oversees powdered milk in the making. Everett Shearer, dryer operator, watches for signs of carmelizing as a thin sheet of milk works off one of two steel rollers. The milk, falling into a trough in flake form, will be run through a hammermill to give it its final powdered form.

LOWER: Mr. Shearer (left), runs a 100-pound bag of powder through a sewing machine, which readies the bag for shipment. At right, Willard Zehfus, plant superintendent, looks at the finished product as turned out by the Chief concern. The name "roller process" is taken from the fact that the milk is literally rolled, as in the picture above.

Junior 4-H Camp Slated June 16-21

Over 170 4-H club delegates, two from each of Ohio's counties, will attend Junior Leadership camp at Camp Ohio near Utica June 16-21.

The camp, sponsored by the state agricultural extension service in cooperation with the Ohio Farmers Insurance Co., is designed to train club leaders for future jobs.

Special programs on international relationships, vocational opportunities and recreation are provided each day.

Session on safety June 19 will feature talks by Sgt. Joe Wolfe of the state highway patrol, and W. E. Stuckey, Ohio State University extension safety specialist. In addition, Edward Rydman, Columbus youth counselor, will also address the campers.

Al Gehres, state 4-H superviser and Miss Mabel Spray, OSU extension home management specialist, will serve as camp directors.

Parrott Tells Prevention for Blight of Trees

Have you noticed a leaf blight on your maple trees this spring? Or perhaps it was on another tree. The leaves may look scorched.

If so, says Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension director, your trees have contracted anthracnose, a disease common to several types of trees but seldom severe enough to cause permanent injury.

Mr. Parrott notes that several things can be done to combat the disease, although it is too late for action this year.

One course of action is to prune out and burn dead or cankered twigs, afterward applying a heavy fertilization of a general fertilizer such as 10-10-10.

Several sprays can be used, but the first one should be applied when the buds are just bursting. In consequence, it is too late this year to spray.

But, for action next year, homeowners whose trees have been attacked may apply a bordeaux mixture, using a ratio of eight pounds of copper sulphate, eight pounds of fresh hydrated lime and 100 gallons of water. Or, they may use any of the fixed coppers, which, sold under trade names, should be applied as per manufacturer's directions. Or, "puratized" agricultural sprays may be used. These are organic mercury compounds, used one quart to 100 gallons of water.

Three sprays are recommended, with the first at bud time to be followed by two others, at intervals of 10 to 14 days.

Says Mr. Parrott: "It's too late to do anything this year. The bud stage has long since passed. But, you can follow these steps next year and be relatively sure of good results."

New Borden Ice Cream Plant in Full Operation

Ice cream making is a big business and a far cry from yesteryear's hand freezer. The modern plant of today, with miles of stainless steel piping, room's full of highly technical, gauge-operated equipment and a hundred-and-one devices for packaging, wrapping and conveying is the personification of progress in this phase of the dairy industry.

Typical of the modernistic way of ice cream making is the Bordon Dairy Co.'s new plant in Columbus, which is, according to Merle Burch, manager of the Marion branch of the firm, "the latest word in the scientific approach to producing this product."

The plant turns out more than 2,000,000 gallons of ice cream a year from its near-north side location, featuring, in the process, automatic mixing, a "hardening tunnel," and novelty machinery.

LET'S TAKE a look at how ice cream is made the modern way.

On a given day the plant foreman gets a laboratory formula for a batch of ice cream. He sets a dial on three fluid ingredient flow meters for the exact amount of cream, milk or liquid sugar he needs, pushes a button and the ingredients are pumped together. The mix-maker then repeats the process for all other ingredients needed for a balanced mix.

A preheater receives these ingredients and raises their temperature to 145 degrees. At the pasteurizer the temperature is increased to 165 degrees and held for 30 minutes. The mix goes from thence to a filter and then a homogenizer, after which a surface cooler reduces the temperature to 34 degrees and the whole batch is pumped into one of eight storage tanks.

Compressed air sends the mix from storage tanks to the freezers. Two - compartment flavor tanks are attached to each freezer, each of 250-gallon capacity. Three of the freezers have a capacity of 500 gallons an hour. Two can produce 300 gallons an hour, while one has a 200-gallon capacity and two are for 150 gallons.

The ice cream is packaged soft and two half gallons, four quarts or eight pints are wrapped together. A conveyor carries the packages to a hardening tunnel where the temperature is a cool 30 below zero. This tunnel receives and discharges 1,600 gallons of ice cream an hour. It takes four hours to freeze the batch, — traveling slowly the length of the tunnel. In a conventional freeze room it would take between 12 and 18 hours.

IF A CHOCOLATE coating is desired for bars it is readily obtainable from a room where the temperature stands at a constant 100 degrees—in the shade. This saves the time of melting the chocolate as it is needed.

What about popsicles or ice cream bars? Simple at this Borden plant. A novelty machine shaped like a merry-go-round is fed by 300 and 150-gallon freezers. Two giant rings fit on top of the machine over a brine tank. Each ring contains 1,183 molds, 169 rows of seven each. One ring is for the bars, the other for popsicles.

For the bars, ice cream is fed from the freezers through overhead lines into the molds. Each mold is automatically filled with the right amount of mix.

As the mold rings rotate around the circle the hardening process begins and a machine inserts the sticks. Part way around the bars reach a hot brine bath. This defrosts them a bit and then seven stainless steel arms reach out, lift out the bars by their sticks, dip them in the chocolate and plop them into an automatic sacker. And that, in an abbreviated nutshell, is all there is to it.

Mr. Burch observes that there are only "two or three" big ice cream-making plants in Ohio any more. Economics has made it unprofitable for too many small manufacturers to stay in business.

Ice cream is one of the primary products of the dairy industry, the significance of which is emphasized as "June Is Dairy Month" is observed. It's a popular treat, a nutritious food and a big business for a nation ever more conscious of the values of dairy products.

Meeting Is Slated To Get 4-H Horse Club Started Here

A Marion County 4-H Horse Club will be formed at a meeting of interested persons in the Junior Fair booth building June 17 at 8 p.m.

So says John Nicholson, associate county extension director, who notes that this will be the first venture of this kind in the county, although such clubs are numerous in other parts of the state.

Clayton Harper of the Pleasant community, will be the adviser for the group.

The club will be sponsored by the extension service, with membership limited to boys and girls who will be 10 years old on Jan. 1 of each year. Membership in club work will terminate upon graduation from high school, Mr. Nicholson notes.

Members must attend a minimum of 75 per cent of the club's stated meetings, have an interest in learning to care for horses and colts and show their animal in junior fair competition.

Those interested in joining are urged to attend this meeting or contact the extension office by calling 2-0510.

OSDA Will Trap Japanese Beetles

The Ohio Department of Agriculture will send representatives to Marion June 18 to set out traps for Japanese beetles, according to Ellwood Parrott, county extension director.

Mr. Parrott asks the indulgence of residents here in affording these researchers places to set their traps. They will be left for a space of perhaps six weeks.

The Japanese beetle is a plant pest, which damages all types of plants, as well as lawns.

Traps will be placed by inspectors with proper credentials and Mr. Parrott asks that residents on whose property they are placed do not move them about. The program is carried on annually throughout the state.

July 1, deadline for wheat acreage allotments.

July 1 Is Deadline For Wheat Pacts

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for grain in any of the years 1956, '57 or '58, and for which a 1958 wheat acreage allotment was not established, may apply for a 1959 wheat acreage allotment, according to Harry A. Laucher, chairman of the Marion ASC county committee.

The owner or operator of such a farm must apply in writing to the ASC office by July 1, 1958. Otherwise, a 1959 wheat acreage allotment will not be established.

Mr. Laucher notes that 1958 wheat acreage on a farm which did not have a '58 wheat acreage allotment does not qualify as wheat history acreage for the purpose of establishing acreage allotments. A 1959 farm wheat acreage allotment will not be established for a farm without wheat history in 1956 and 1957, and on which wheat was planted for grain in 1958 without a '58 acreage allotment.

Corn Champs Named

Stanley Wentz of near Wharton, has been named Wyandot County's "senior corn-growing champion" for 1957. Wayne Holzwart, of near Upper Sandusky, a nephew of Mr. Wentz, got junior championship honors. Wentz had a yield of 127.42 bushels an acre from a five-acre plot; Holzwart raised 135.85 bushels on a similar acreage.

3 Special Days Are Planned At Wooster Experiment Farm

On June 12, the fifth annual Small Fruits Day will be observed. June 13 will feature Ohio Forestry Day, while June 18 has been set as Turkey Day.

Small Fruits Day will be spent in taking guided tours of the station's experimental plots, discussing informally various aspects of small fruit culture and sitting in on forums.

A special feature will be a discussion by M. P. Baldauf of the department of horticulture on freezing berries. The featured speaker of the afternoon program will be Walter F. Jeffers, talking on "Small Fruit Production — 1958."

The day's activities are slated to begin at 9:30 a.m., with lunch available on the grounds.

Ohio Forestry Day will be highlighted by the observance of the golden jubilee of the 80-acre Secrest Arboretum, experimental forest at the station site.

The arboretum was begun in 1908, and was named for Edmund Secrest, considered the father of forestry in Ohio and director of the Wooster station from 1937 to 1947.

The event will get under way at 10 a.m., with all types of plants on exhibit. A banquet will conclude the festivities. The following morning, June 14, the program will take up again in Mohican State Forest, with a loggers' breakfast to precede tours and hikes.

Finally, but not least of all, June 18 will be Turkey Day, the sixth event of its kind, with registration at 10 a.m. and tours of the farm slated until 11.

"How Turkeys Are Marketed in Ohio" will be discussed by Dr. P. C. Clayton, extension poultryman, and Paul J. Flinn, Cincinnati procurement manager for the Kroger Co., will answer the question: "Should Ohio Expand Its Turkey Broiler Industry?"

Dr. R. N. Shoffner, poultry geneticist of the University of Minnesota, will discuss breeding for the turkey of the future. Other topics will include management, breeding, nutrition, artificial insemination and diseases.

OSU Ayrshires Typed

Two cows in Ohio State University's registered Ayrshire herd have been classified "excellent" for type, according to the Ayrshire Breeders Association. Ohio Brown Lois and Ohio Sunny Perfection turned the trick. The 15 Ayrshires in the OSU herd attained an average score of .868.

Bell Gains First Win for Tribe, Trips Orioles 10-2

Minoso and Maris Lead 14-Hit Attack by Indians

BALTIMORE (AP) — Young Gary Bell rang up his first major league pitching triumph Tuesday night as the Cleveland Indians jarred the Baltimore Orioles, 10-2.

The 21-year-old right-hander permitted just three hits in six innings. Hoyt Wilhelm, the knuckleball relief artist, stifled the Orioles with a single hit over the final three innings.

4 Pitchers Belted

The Tribe, meanwhile, blasted four Baltimore hurlers for 14 hits. A five-run outburst in the eighth inning put Cleveland ahead 8-2 and the Indians added a pair in the ninth.

Minnie Minoso cracked his eighth home run of the campaign in the first inning to get the Tribe winging. He also drove home another run in the third inning with a single. Roger Maris contributed a double and two singles to the offense.

Bell was given a 3-0 lead after three frames and blanked the Orioles for five innings. He yielded Baltimore's two runs in the sixth after shortstop Billy Harrell booted a double play grounder.

Harrell scored the Indians' third run in the fifth inning after drawing a walk and stealing second base. Maris sent him across with a single.

Opens Big Inning

Maris led off the Tribe's big eighth inning with a single over second base off George Zuverink, third of four Oriole pitchers. Minoso bunted in front of the plate. When Triandos threw wild to first, Maris went to third and Minoso wound up at second.

Preston Ward was purposely passed to load the bases and Dick Brown sent two runners home with a double to left. Chico Carrasquel was intentionally walked to reload the bases. Billy Moran then brought home the third run of the inning with a sacrifice fly.

Wilhelm helped the cause with a single and Harrell knocked in the final run by doubling off the left field wall. He was nipped trying for a triple.

Lou Sleater was the Baltimore victim of the final two runs. Maris doubled, and singles by Ward and Rocky Colavito accounted for the markers.

Dick Tomanek (2-2) gets the call in the third game of the series tonight. He will be opposed by Baltimore's Milt Pappas (2-1).

Norman Plans Slow Start as Tiger Skipper

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Norman, promoted to a major league manager's berth in his 29th year in organized baseball, plans to run the Detroit Tigers on a "look-see basis" for a week or 10 days.

Norman said he didn't have any immediate plans after being summoned from Detroit's Charleston farm in the American Assn. Tuesday to replace Jack Tighe in the majors' first managerial shakeup this year.

"I live in hopes and surprises," Norman said. "We have good hands. There's a job to be done and let's see what happens."

Norman's debut as field boss of the last place Tigers was delayed when rain postponed Tuesday night's scheduled game with the Boston Red Sox. A day-night doubleheader was scheduled for today.

Tighe was awakened from a sound sleep and told he was fired by General Manager John Mc Hale. Norman arrived by plane about three hours later as Tighe headed for his home in Spring Lake, Mich.

Mc Hale said that Tighe "gave it everything he had, but it just didn't work out."

Tighe, who lasted less than two seasons as Detroit manager but probably will remain with the organization in another capacity, said that he couldn't blame the Tigers and a change probably was in order.

Rain Washes Out 2-0 Lead of Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs and the St. Louis Cardinals will wring the water out of their uniforms and try again tonight.

A torrential rain and the threat of a tornado—which didn't materialize — forced postponement of Tuesday night's opening game in a three-game series, with the Cardinals leading 2-0.

St. Louis was batting in the bottom half of the third with two out and a man on third when mother nature came to the aid of Birdie Tebbetts and company.

In tonight's game, southpaw Joe Nuxhall (2-3) will go to the mound for the Redlegs while Sam Jones (4-6) will pitch for the Cardinals.

Umpiring, Scoring Help Requested by Baseball Officials

The Marion Baseball for Boys Commission today issued an appeal for adult help in conducting its five leagues.

Gerald Maynard, president of the commission, described the official scoring and umpiring situations as "urgent" in asking for help.

At the present time, only one permanent umpire is available for duty in the three Little Leagues as well as the Pony and Pony-Grad loops. A spokesman for the commission said that if only 24 umpires were available each would be needed only one night a week.

Currently makeshift crews, composed of parents and other fans drafted from the stands, are being used.

Any adult in the city or county wishing to assist in the youth program as an umpire or as a scorer is asked to telephone Mr. Maynard at 2-3184, Fred Spurlock at 2-5071 or Robert Cudd at 2-5942.

Inexperience is no handicap, the commission spokesman said. If enough volunteers register clinics will be conducted for both umpires and scorers.

Final Tryouts Planned For Farm Loop Teams

The final tryout session for Farm League teams under the direction of the Baseball for Boys Commission will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. at Scott Field. Any boys, 9, 10 or 11 years old not already assigned to a Little League team are eligible for Farm League action.

All-Star Softball Contest Scheduled Here Friday

4 Players From Marion Named for Action in Big Eight Classic

The Ohio Big Eight Fastball League all-star game will be played at 8 p.m. Friday at Marion's Lincoln Park diamond.

The game, featuring 16 players from both the eastern and western divisions of the league, will be played as a benefit, with proceeds going to the local Baseball for Boys program.

FOUR PLAYERS representing the Marion Independents, members of the loop's western division, will play. They are Fritz Walters, Don Johnson, Dick Gherman and Jim Riley.

Both teams will be manged by the pilots of the 1957 titlists of both divisions—Lawrence Hedden of the Gibsonburg Dolites for the west, and Jim Smith of the Lorain Old Dutch for the east.

The night's activity will get under way at 6:30 p.m., with a Pony League game.

At 8 o'clock, Harold Smith, 6th District commissioner, will introduce the Big Eight players. Following the game, medals will be awarded the players by Smith, who will be assisted by Jim Gibson, area salesman for the Buckeye Sports Center of Columbus, which will donate the awards.

Mayor Wendell L. Strong will present a trophy to the game's "most valuable player," the prize to be donated by the Marion branch of the Quaker Oats Co. The top player will be chosen during the contest by a committee composed of Smith, Franklin Hartley and Ralph Loreno.

Umpires for the game will be John Hachten and Gene Mull, with Charm McCrery the official scorer.

MARION WAS awarded the all-star contest after the Independents became the newest member of the league. The game will bring 32 of the state's top softball performers here. League rules insist proceeds from the game must go to charity. The Marion baseball commission was selected as this year's recipient.

The complete roster of both all-star teams will be announced by league officials later this week.

399 Runners Stranded

Lack of Minoso's Power Hurting Chisox Chances

By The Associated Press

You can tick off a number of reasons to explain why the Chicago White Sox, who finished second last season, are barely free of the American League cellar at the moment. But the No. 1 answer is the guy playing left field for Cleveland.

Without Minnie Minoso, who led Chicago with 103 runs batted in last season, the White Sox have left 399 runners stranded (an average of eight a game) while scoring only 187. Sherm Lollar is the top RBI man with 28.

Leader in 1957

A year ago, when they led the league by four games, the White Sox had scored 209, with 348 left on base and Minoso batting in 36.

Minoso hasn't been a ball of fire at Cleveland but he's leading the club with 29 RBIs.

He added a pair Tuesday night, one with his eighth homer, as Cleveland beat Baltimore 10-2 and moved into fourth place. The White Sox left 10 on base in a twi-night double header split at Washington, winning 5-4 before a 5-2 defeat.

Other scheduled games were rained out.

Sievers Hits No. 11

A pair of four-run rallies decided things at Washington. The Senators, who got a quick lead on Roy Sievers' 11th homer, cracked a 1-1 tie with four in the nightcap sixth against Jim Wilson (5-5). Julio Becquer's pinch single drove in one, winner Hal Griggs (3-2) brought in another on a sacrifice fly, and Herbie Plews counted two with a double. Jim Landis and Earl Battey homered for the Sox' runs.

The Sox bagged the opener with four in the seventh on Billy Goodman's two-out, bad-hop single, Nellie Fox's RBI single and Smith's two-run fly ball double. Ray Moore (3-1) gave up only three hits in his six innings, but southpaw ace Billy Pierce had to hustle in as the third White Sox reliever to end a threat in the ninth. Truman Clevenger lost it in relief of Camilo Pascual.

A total of $1,680.94 was collected by the members of the commission's five leagues. It was termed the best drive ever staged by the group and Mrs. Melvin Rankin and Mrs. Max Roseberry today thanked the public for its response.

Clarkson Tech's hockey team is not only good, it's smart. The squad had four players on the dean's list for outstanding scholastic achievement.

Both After First Win

Open Title Sought By Snead, Demaret

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—There are two great golfers in the 162-man field starting the 58th U.S. Open Golf Championship Thursday who never have put their names in the record books by winning the big one.

They are Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret — unquestionably two of the best in this golfing generation.

Failure Means Nothing

This failure doesn't mean a thing to Demaret, he says, and Snead is the man he picks to illustrate this point.

"Snead has won 100 tournaments and they're all tough," Jimmy said after shooting nine practice holes under a sweltering prairie sun. "They talk about his having a mental block about the Open. It doesn't mean a thing. They're all tough.

"I've never won the Texas Open either, and I've played in it oftener than the National. I won the Masters three times but that only means I was hot for one week three times."

Rated as Men to Beat

Snead and Demaret rate as two of the players to beat when the 72-hole grind starts Thursday over the lengthy 6,907-yard Southern Hills course.

Demaret shrugs off the fact he set an Open record of 278 at Riviera in 1948 only to have Ben Hogan come in with a 276, which still stands as an all-time record. Last year Jimmy shot 283 at Inverness, then Dick Mayer and Cary Middlecoff came in one stroke ahead. Mayer won the title playoff.

"I'd still take that score and let any of the Open champs of the last few years shoot at it," Jimmy said.

Homer by Nelson Wins for Toronto

By The Associated Press

First baseman Glenn "Rocky" Nelson is bound and determined that his Toronto Maple Leafs take over first place in the International League. It could happen tonight.

Toronto plays a doubleheader with Miami and the league-leading Montreal Royals have a single game against Havana. A sweep by the Leafs and a Royal loss is necessary. Anything else would leave Toronto in second place.

Tuesday night Nelson hit a 10th inning homer to give Toronto a 5-4, 10-inning victory over Miami. Montreal was rained out against Havana at Montreal, while Rochester defeated Columbus 6-1 and Buffalo shaded Richmond 6-5 in other IL action.

Baseball Games Sought

The Sycamore baseball team is seeking games. They can be scheduled either Sundays or nights during the week. Teams interested in playing the Sycamore nine may schedule contests by calling Sycamore 74292 or writing to Don Hannam at Box 141 in Sycamore.

Al Krutsch, Dartmouth's varsity football captain, also plays rugby.

Redlegs Idled, Move Nearer To NL's Lead

By The Associated Press

That National League pennant race has become a mystery of reluctant leaders.

San Francisco still holds the lead, although a 5-4 defeat by Pittsburgh Tuesday night was the Giants' 10th in 14 games. Milwaukee, second by half a game and .003 percentage points, stayed put, blowing a 5-1 lead in a 9-6 defeat by the persistent Chicago Cubs.

Fifth Straight Loss

The Braves now have lost five straight—for the first time since early September 1956.

Philadelphia kept Los Angeles in the cellar with a 3-2 victory in the only other game played. Rain idled Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Right-hander Bob Friend became the first NL pitcher to win nine this season, getting home run help from R. C. Stevens, Bob Skinner and Frank Thomas while handing the Giants their third consecutive defeat with an eight-hitter. Friend has lost four.

Cubs Rap Spahn

The Cubs hammered southpaw Warren Spahn (8-2) for five home runs. Ernie Banks, the NL RBI (52) and homer leader, hit his 18th with two on, Bobby Thomson smacked a pair and Dale Long and Cal Neeman each hit one, with Neeman's the clincher in the sixth. Glen Hobbie won his fourth in relief of Dick Drott.

The Phillies ended the Dodger's winning string at three, breaking a 1-1 tie with a fifth-inning pair that handed winless Don Newcombe his fifth defeat. An error, Richie Ashburn's triple and a single by Solly Hemus got the job done as rookie Ray Semproch won his sixth.

Charlie Neal drove in both Dodger runs, one with his 10th homer.

Yesterday's STARS

Pitching — Bob Friend, Pirates, became the first to win nine and beat every club in the National League, giving up eight hits, walking none and striking out eight in 5-4 victory over first place Giants.

Hitting — Bobby Thomson, Cubs, rapped a pair of home runs, driving in three runs, in 9-6 victory over the Braves.

Fatal Shooting Mars Voting in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A runoff election to decide the Democratic nominee for governor is scheduled June 24 between Ernest F. Hollings and Donald Russell.

Hollings, 36, a Charleston attorney now serving as lieutenant governor, ran ahead of the 52-year-old former president of the University of South Carolina in the Democratic primaries Tuesday.

Third in the field was Mayor William C. Johnston of Anderson, brother of U.S. Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC). The mayor conceded defeat.

Nearly complete but unofficial returns gave Hollings 140,779 votes, Russell 118,638 and Johnston 80,280.

Party nomination is equivalent to election in this heavily Democratic state.

The day was marred by the slaying of State Sen. Paul A. Wallace, 57, as he learned he had won renomination. He was shot in the Marlboro County sheriff's office in Bennettsville and police held County Clerk Henry A. Rogers, 67.

Motive for the slaying was not clear.

House Gives Ike Victory With Passage of Foreign Trade Bill

Full 5-Year Extension of Pacts Voted

Attempts To Restrict Program to 2 Years, Trim Powers Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, handing President Eisenhower a major legislative victory, today passed and sent to the Senate a bill continuing the reciprocal trade program for another five years.

In doing so, it crushed any attempt to limit the program to two years and restrict the President's trade and tariff making authority, and one to send the whole thing back to a committee pigeonhole.

First, it defeated 234-147 a substitute proposal which would have stripped the President of much of his tariff-making authority.

They it proceeded to vote down a move to send his proposal for a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade program back to a committee pigeonhole.

The votes represented a hard-won victory for the President in the first critical test on his demands for a free hand to continue the 24-year-old reciprocal trade program another five years beyond June 30.

With most Democrats swinging behind the President, the House defeated a substitute proposal authored by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (D-Pa).

It would have limited extension of the trade agreements act to two years, and vested in the Tariff Commission and Congress the President's existing authority to ignore commission recommendations for duty increased where domestic industry faces injury.

In pleas to the House Tuesday, Eisenhower called for defeat of the Simpson proposal. He maintained it is essential for the President to retain authority over tariff decisions "in the best interests of the United States."

House leaders teamed solidly behind Eisenhower.

In two personal appeals read to the House, Eisenhower called for defeat of the substitute backed by high-tariff forces which would clip his tariff powers, limit the program to two years and transfer much of his tariff authority to the Tariff Commission.

He contended its adoption would be "a tragic blunder which could seriously jeopardize the national interest, the foreign relations, as well as the security of the United States."

President Puts Party on Record

Ike's Call for Stronger Labor Bill Splits GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's advocacy of a more restrictive labor control bill cut a political pattern today that some Republicans found pleasing. Others didn't.

Eisenhower apparently has put the party on record as favoring more drastic action than most Democrats are willing to support to curb the kind of labor abuses exposed by the rackets investigations.

Demands Changes

The administration is demanding changes in a compromise bill drafted by the Labor Committee under the sponsorship of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

The most immediate effect of Eisenhower's course will be felt in this year's contest for party control of Congress.

The Senate now is scheduled to take up the labor bill Thursday, and perhaps complete it this week.

Regardless of whether Congress finally enacts any bill, Republican candidates will be tagged with the contention their party wants more regulation of unions than labor will accept.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif), running for governor of California, and Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), seeking re-election were highly pleased with the position taken by Eisenhower.

Both had fought to include many provisions opposed by labor leaders in an earlier Senate bill to regulate health and pension plans.

GOP candidates who have indicated similar views included Sens. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Frank A. Barrett of Wyoming, John D. Hoblitzell of West Virginia, John J. Williams of Delaware and Arthur V. Watkins of Utah.

Middle of Roaders

More in the middle of the road were GOP Sens. Charles E. Potter of Michigan, William A. Purtell of Connecticut, Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia and Edward J. Thye of Minnesota.

Four GOP candidates who aligned themselves against Knowland include GOP Sens. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, William Langer of North Dakota, George W. Malone of Nevada and Frederick G. Payne of Maine.

Goldwater told reporters he regards Republican support for a more comprehensive bill as "the only issue we have in this campaign."

Sen. Irving Ives (R-NY) criticized Goldwater and Mitchell for what he said was an attempt to "make a Republican thing out of this bill."

Parker was wounded in the left thigh, left ankle and creased along the abdomen, the patrol said. He was taken to Hicksville Community Hospital.

Harvey G. Foster, agent in charge of the Indianapolis FBI office, ordered Parker moved to the Federal Penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., for maximum security, provided his condition permits it.

Sheriff's Deputy Lloyd Oswald, who was locked in the jail hallway by Parker, said the gun apparently was smuggled into the prisoner after he had filed through the lock on his cell.

Tuesday night. Their talk dealt primarily if not entirely with atomic problems, including the possibility of suspending nuclear weapons.

No Final Decision

The President has made no final decision on what the U.S. test suspension policy will be after the current tests in the Pacific. It is understood that both Macmillan and he felt it was wise to delay definitive policy action until two situations are clarified.

The first is action by the U.S. Congress on an administration proposal under which the President could share secret information on nuclear weapons manufacture with Allied countries qualified to use it. Macmillan has indicated that he would feel justified in halting tests only if Britain could get such information from this country.

The other situation concerns the possibility of getting agreement with the Soviet Union on a system for policing a test suspension. Eisenhower has proposed that scientific talks on this problem start July 1 at Geneva.

Dulles told a news conference that if the Geneva talks produced a good understanding with the Soviets, that would make it easier to reach an accord for suspending tests. But if the experts were unable to agree, he added, such an accord would almost automatically become impossible.

Johnson Says Moon Rocket Dates Not Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of Air Force space planning says he was speaking only of planning dates in saying the Air Force will attempt to fire its first rocket toward the moon in August.

Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, director of Air Force research and development, told a news conference in Milwaukee Tuesday that three moon shoots will be attempted this year—in August, September and October.

He was promptly challenged by the Pentagon's space boss, Roy W. Johnson, director of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency. He said no final decision has been made on the firing dates.

On his return to Washington Tuesday night, Johnson told newsmen he had explained in Milwaukee he was speaking only of a planning date.

UAW Seeking To Block New Strike Threat

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers lifted their softpedal on strike talk Tuesday but at the same time appealed to Chrysler employes to stay on the job and let UAW leaders call signals.

UAW Vice President Norman Matthews threatened to close down two Plymouth plants here in a dispute with Chrysler over new rules restricting the activities of stewards and shop committeemen on company time.

UAW members have been working without contracts at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford since the Memorial Day weekend. Operations at GM and Ford have been normal for the most part. Groups of Chrysler workers have clamored for strike action.

Matthews, director of the union's Chrysler Department, disclosed that 4,000 members of Local 51 at the Plymouth engine and assembly plants here have asked for a strike vote. No date has been set.

A wildcat strike caused Chrysler to shut down its Dodge truck plant here at noon Tuesday. The company said 400 assembly workers refused to return to their jobs following lunch. As a result, it said, an additional 1,000 workers were sent home for the day.

Chrysler said production was resumed at the truck plant today.

Fishing Boat Skipper Tells 'Whale of a Tale'

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) —Capt. Joseph Corea of the dragger "Papa Joe" tells of a struggle with a 60-ton whale that nearly pulled him and his crew to their deaths.

Corea said they encountered a pod of some 14 whales. One of them nosed into their net, apparently looking for fish on which to feed.

During the whale's struggle to free itself, the captain said, the dragger's stern was pulled down to the gunwales. About then the crew was first able to play out the net.

After a feverish 30-minute struggle, the fishermen managed to dispatch the whale and cut the line, allowing the carcass to sink, Capt. Corea related.

Twister

nado hit El Dorado. Trooper Bob Lemon of the Kansas highway patrol, on duty seven miles south of the city, saw it first.

"I followed it to El Dorado as fast as I could drive," he said. "I warned the El Dorado police by radio that the storm was coming. I don't imagine I gave them a five-minute advance warning if I gave them that much."

Saw Tornado Strike

Another witness, Nancy Kerschner, a secretary employed at radio station KBTO, saw the tornado strike the city. She said: "It hit the Oil Hill district southwest of town, then skipped into the thickly populated residential section. I didn't realize at first that it was a tornado because it was a pale gray color instead of the black I had been told tornadoes always looked."

A temporary morgue was set up in the 4-H Club's building. There lay 11 bodies. Another victim died in the hospital.

El Dorado's hospital quickly was jammed past capacity. Hampered by lack of lights, doctors sent critical cases and those with bone fractures to three hospitals in Wichita.

Portable generators were dispatched from Wichita to El Dorado by the Boeing Airplane Co., and McConnell Air Force Base and Wichita's National Guard unit delivered mobile search lights. These provided emergency lights at the hospital.

An office was set up by the Red Cross, which arranged shelters for the homeless. A blood donors' office was established at Wichita.

7 Bodies Found at School

Seven of the bodies were found in the yard of the Skelly School, which was demolished.

Richard Tarrant and three other coaches were working out with about 30 boys on two baseball teams when they sighted the tornado.

Said Tarrant: "It was the biggest one I ever saw and I've seen quite a few. We rounded up all the boys. The ones who had bicycles we told to get on 'em and get out of there—go home. Then we put the others in our cars and took them home."

Fifteen minutes later Tarrant went back to the school, where they could have taken shelter, and found it in ruins.

State Trooper Lemon said the tornado crossed over a golf course at the west edge of the city, then dipped into a ravine where it hit the Towanada addition, a new development of houses. The tornado soared back into the air, only to crash again in another, similar housing area. Then it disappeared.

Forty minutes after the El Dorado tornado, another hit Pontiac community seven miles away but did no damage.

federal treatment through close personal friendship with Adams, as alleged; or

2. Whether Adams merely enjoyed Goldfine's hospitality as an old friend without offering any special treatment for Goldfine's troubled business enterprises. That is the picture presented by Roger Robb, a Goldfine attorney.

Rep. Oren Harris (D - Ark), chairman of the subcommittee checking whether federal regulatory agencies were independent as the law intends, gave the Goldfine interests until next Tuesday to produce records on a broad range of transactions.

Serves Notice

Robb served notice that Goldfine will fight a broad subcommittee subpoena demanding records back to 1925 and including any payments Goldfine may have made to state as well as federal officials since 1950.

Adams' frequent stays at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston were reported by a subcommittee investigator, Francis X. McLaughlin.

Hotel records listed Adams and his wife as guests in suites costing from $37 to $65 a day. The hotel had a ledger notation to charge Adams' bill to Goldfine, McLaughlin testified.

The subcommittee, it was said, has been told by Federal Trade Commission employes and by John Fox, publisher of the now defunct Boston Post, that Goldfine got favored treatment from the FTC and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

'Coexistence' Call Issued by Russian Envoy

BALTIMORE (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov says the only road to lasting peace is through [illegible] coexistence.

Capitalism and Communism should "cooperate, even assist each other," he told an overflow dinner audience of about 600 Baltimore lawyers. Outside, more than 150 chanting, sign-carrying pickets marched around his hotel, calling him "murderer" and a "smiling gangster."

Menshikov had been ushered into the hotel under close police escort an hour ahead of his scheduled arrival, avoiding a direct meeting with the pickets. Most of them were native Europeans — Ukrainians, Poles, and nationals of other Russian satellite nations.

"Admittedly," Menshikov told the lawyers, "there is no easy road to the settlement of controversial problems and lasting peace. And we cannot shut our eyes to the presence of a constant, continuing dangerous tension today."

Harvey Back On Police Duty

Returned to Force On Order of Travis

Marion police patrolman Leo Harvey was returned to duty today on order of Safety-Service Director Howard W. Travis.

Mr. Harvey was off for nearly two months after he was dismissed April 15 by Mr. Travis for failing to comply with an order directing him to comply with a civil service commission residence regulation.

A three-member trial board heard the case and last Wednesday ruled that Mr. Harvey had not violated the commission regulation requiring residence in Marion County because it was not enacted until after Mr. Harvey had moved outside the county.

The trial board also ruled Mr. Harvey's dismissal was not carried out properly and ordered him reinstated with full back pay, allowances, rights and privileges.

itself to working for integration of the Algerian and European populations.

These orders and the promise of elections were defied Tuesday by the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety. This combination of French colonists and army leaders insisted in a resolution that De Gaulle should not carry out the elections.

The resolution also called for elimination of French political parties on which De Gaulle has based his Cabinet and substitution of a government of public salvation; a right - wing dictatorship permitting no opposition.

Political circles in Paris felt the resolution presented the most serious challenge to De Gaulle since he became premier June 1 as a result of the military - civilian seizure of power in Algeria and Corsica.

The resolution was sent to De Gaulle with the approval of Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, paratrooper leader of the Algiers junta. It originally was marked "approved by Gen. Raoul Salan," military and civilian commander for Algeria for De Gaulle.

But the Premier apparently cracked his whip and Salan quickly disavowed the resolution.

In opposing local elections, the resolution reflected the fear of the French colonists that the voting will end their control of the local governments in Algeria.

Program To Be Held June 18

Barbershop 'Sing' Set For Retarded Children

A benefit barbershop quartet concert will be held Wednesday, June 18, to aid the retarded children's program in Marion County, it was announced today by Fred Gehm, president of the Marion County Council for Mentally Retarded Children.

The benefit affair will be held in conjunction with Marion County Mentally Retarded Children's Week, proclaimed by Mayor Wendell L. Strong for June 15-21.

The concert will be held in Harding High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

IT WILL FEATURE four or five local and visiting barbershop quartets and the entire chorus of the Marion SPEBSQSA organization.

In addition to Marion's Buckeye Four quartet, the Upper Crusts of Upper Sandusky, the Rich Cords of Richwood and the Uncalled Four of Lima will sing.

A highlight of the program will be a chalk-talk by Fred Seibert of Defiance, Wilson Tway and W. C. Stumbo are masters of ceremony.

Admission for the concert is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Tickets are available at local banks, from council members, at Schaffner's Furniture Store, Tuesday, June 17, or at the door the night of the performance.

Marion's Retarded Children Council has been in existence since a state council was created by Ohio law in 1952. However, it has been an active organization only the last two years.

Formerly known as the Marion County Council of Parents and Friends of Mentally Retarded Children, the council changed its name to the present designation after being chartered by the state as a non-profit organization last fall.

THE COUNCIL, which now has 140 members, operates in a manner similar to that of PTA organizations, buying supplies and equipment for the local mentally retarded children's classes and promoting the program in the county.

Marion now has three such classes, the number prescribed for Marion County by Dr. Roderick Purcell, director of Ohio's mentally retarded children's program.

However, these classes do not have the full enrollment of 12 students.

Until December of 1957, there was only one class being operated for the mentally retarded children in this county. It was through the efforts of the council that two more classes were organized.

The classes are held at the Marion County Children's Home and are administered by the Marion County Child Welfare Board through funds from the state, tuition charges and welfare grants.

The average cost per student, per year, is $240. After a class has been in existence one year the state pays $200 of this amount.

The remainder comes from tuition paid by parents who can afford it, or from the council and other welfare groups.

The concert proceeds will go toward these classes.

IN ITS education program for the general public, the council points out that the mentally retarded child is not mentally ill but is incapable to developing beyond the mentality of a child.

Also it has been shown in recent years that such a handicap is most frequently caused by a brain injury at birth.

Recent statistics show that there are three mentally retarded children in every 100 babies born in the United States.

These boys and girls are not usually different physically than normal children, although some are handicapped physically, as well as mentally.

Two of the three classes in Marion County help train children from the age of 6 to 16 in simple reading, to write their name, to count up to ten and to appreciate music.

They also are taught to play games and to take care of themselves, as much as possible.

As they learn, one certain skill will show itself in each child. The third class is what would be termed a workshop class to develop the particular skill of those over 16, so they can earn to support themselves, or at least contribute to their support.

There are now 206 such classes within the state, but Dr. Purcell estimates Ohio requires a minimum of 453 to care for all those in need.

Officers of the local council, serving with Mr. Gehm in promoting the retarded children's program in this county are: Carrol Starner, president elect; Mrs. Walter Blume, recording secretary; and Dr. J. J. Brown, treasurer.

Men Reluctant To Fill Grade School Positions

CINCINNATI, O. (AP) — The teaching of young children is almost exclusively a woman's job because men think kindergarten and grammar school teaching is sissified, says a prominent educator.

Dr. James L. Hymes of the University of Maryland college of education told a recent meeting of nursery school teachers that many men would like to teach young children "but the feeling it's a sissy job, a waste of a man's brain keeps them from it."

GOP Women Finish Season

A covered dish luncheon Tuesday noon in the community rooms over the West Town Branch of the National City Bank concluded for the summer the meetings of the Marion County Republican Women's Club. Bouquets of peonies and lilies decorated the tables.

Mrs. John Hall, president, presided and opened the business session with the Republican prayer for the month and the salute to the flag. In recognition of the centennial year of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Hall presented a paper on famous quotations by Mr. Roosevelt that pertain to present day living. Mrs. Lester Stewart reviewed a paper on the duties and responsibilities of the precinct committee woman.

Winner of the mystery box for the day was Mrs. James Wooley. Serving as luncheon chairman was Mrs. Chester Gruber, who was assisted by Mrs. Lester Watt, Mrs. Reed Ours and Mrs. Wooley. The group will resume activities Sept. 9.

DRIVING TEST FLUNKED
OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A housewife, attempting to pass a driver's license test, was told to try again. The reason: A state driver examiner, who accompanied the woman during the test, said her auto sideswiped a parked car and then collided with another auto headon.

SUBTLE APPROACH
HONOLULU — Democrats on two of Hawaii's islands are using a subtle touch in a drive to legalize cockfighting here. They seek to include in the 1958 Democratic platform a plank which pledges the party to: "Encourage the raising and breeding of poultry to implement recreational activity."

Smog Canning Firm Founded In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In this zany city anything can happen. When it does, somebody usually makes money on it.

There are days, for instance, when you can see men waving empty tin cans in the air. They do this when it's smoggy. After a few swipes at the murky atmosphere, they clap lids on the cans.

You'd swear they were canning smog.

They are.

Once sealed and labeled, the cans are packed for shipment by the Los Angeles Smog Corp.

The firm claims it has two aims — to turn a profit for its founder, a 52-year-old actor named Carleton Young, and to help rid Los Angeles of smog. While it hasn't won any prizes on the second, it seems to be making out on the first.

How can you make money out of smog? Young's idea is to sell the cans as souvenirs of Los Angeles.

"Genuine Los Angeles Smog," proclaim the labels. "This is the smog used by famous Hollywood stars.

"Contains hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, sulphur dioxide, organic oxides, aldehydes and formaldehydes. No pollutants or irritants removed.

"To insure freshness and purity, keep container tightly sealed."

The canned smog is sold at such tourist attractions as Disneyland and the Farmer's Market and at joke shops. Firms holding conventions in Los Angeles are big buyers.

MOTORIST'S SURPRISE!
DENVER, Colo (AP) — Tony Medina jumped in his car, started it and put it in gear. The car wouldn't budge. Medina got out, crawled underneath, found someone had jacked up the car during the night and walked away with the vehicle's driveshaft.

Fleeing Inmate at BIS Is Shot, Wounded; Official Suspended

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Eldon Hunt, 16, of Hilliards (Franklin County) was reported in fair condition at Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital after he was shot in the head while he and another youth were attempting to escape from Boys Industrial School near here Tuesday.

Col. T. L. Fultz, superintendent of the correctional institution, said the youth was shot by James Goslin, a BIS employe, after Goslin had ordered the boys to halt.

Fultz said he suspended Goslin for 30-days pending an investigation. Employes and instructors at the school are forbidden to carry firearms, he explained.

The superintendent said Hunt and Thomas Short, 17, of Lima, disappeared in the afternoon when they walked away from the school barber shop where they were taking barber training.

Several hours later Goslin saw the boys still on the BIS grounds and ordered them to stop. Goslin said the they started running off the grounds. He said he fired five shots. Hunt fell, wounded in back of the head near the right ear. The bullet was later removed in surgery.

It had been reported that the boys were carrying straight razors which they had taken from the barber shop. Officials later found the razors in a field.

Hunt was first sent to the school in 1956. He was released in 1957 but was returned later that year on charges of breaking and entering.

Short's BIS record started in 1953. He has been sent there several times, the last in October, 1957 for violation of parole and incorrigibility.

Dorsey Band To Play

RUSSELLS POINT — A number of hit tunes made famous by the late Tommy Dorsey will be played by his orchestra starring Warren Covington at an engagement in the San Jaun Ballroom here Sunday.

Activities To Start At Playground in Prospect Monday

Monday is the date set for the season's playground program to get under way at Prospect.

The activity during the next eight weeks will be conducted for children of the first four grades in school from 1 p.m. until 3 and for the older children through eighth grade from 1 until 4:30 under direction of Bruce Emery.

A graduate of Prospect High School, he has attended Bowling Green State University and will be employed as an elementary school teacher in the Marion County school system next year. He was one of the young people first making use of the playground facilities when the project was inaugurated 11 years ago and attended each summer for seven years.

Although not continued last year, the opportunity for children to make good use of their vacation time in the afternoons will be resumed this year.

Working on the program are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lauer Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller with financial contributions from the PTA, CCL groups, interested parents and business people. The committee expressed the hope that many others will wish to give assistance also.

A variety of recreation will be offered. There will be badminton, volleyball, croquet, basket shooting, track events, base running and games and contests of other nature contributing a spirit of sportsmanship it was announced.

$3,000 Suit Filed

BUCYRUS — B. D. Foght, Bucyrus contractor, is named defendant in a $3,000 breach of contract action filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by Virgil W. Laipply, Bucyrus auto salesman.

Laipply claims he entered into a written contract with Foght for construction of a $19,000 home in the Timken Boulevard subdivision at the east edge of Bucyrus. He charges nine violations of terms of the contract.

Merrill Brothers and John Fontana of Columbus, and Martin and Hall of Marion were attorneys for the plantiff. The Akron law firm of Wise, Roetzee, Maxon, Kelly and Andrees, and the Marion firm of Carhart and Stout represented the defendant. Joseph A. Marchese represented the state attorney general's office.

Strain of Extended Newspaper Strike Felt by Philadelphians

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The exasperated wife who used to lose out to Yogi Berra or the financial pages at the breakafast table is fed up in reverse.

She says what a relief it would be if her husband would glue himself to the newspaper again. The way it is, he's an out-and-out grouch.

He becomes grouchier still as he joins other commuters around a barren newsstand at the station.

But if you think that is a crotchety crowd, come aboard the train.

Commuters, normally buoyed up on a sea of newsprint, are desolate. Some sleep, or pretend to. Others, though open-eyed, are frankly bored. Conversation withers. The person with no newspaper at all stares resentfully at anybody who has any kind of paper.

Thus begins the day for a great many in this densely populated region, which for the second time in recent years is feeling the strain of a prolonged newspaper strike. The last one was in the spring of 1946. Delivery truck drivers were out 13 days. The present strike has been on for 13 day also.

The Teamsters Union, on May 30-31, struck the Philadelphia Bulletin, Philadelphia Inquirer and neighboring Camden (N.J.) Courier-Post. The next day the American Newspaper Guild struck the Inquirer, more than 700 employes of the nonmechanical crafts walking out. At issue are wages, pension and similar benefits, and for the Teamsters, the policy question of whether the picket line should be inviolate.

With its Guild employes out, the Inquirer has been conducted by the supervisory staff. Neither the Bulletin nor the Courier-Post has a Guild unit. All three have published editions of limited scope, but have been unable to make home deliveries. Newsstand and street sales likewise have been suspended. Neither the Bulletin nor the Inquirer carries advertising. The Courier-Post, which does not publish a Sunday edition, does accept ads.

Goodyear Talks Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — Contract negotiations between the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers opened here Tuesday. The union seeks "a substantial and adequate" pay raise and pension and insurance improvements for 23,000 Goodyear employes in 11 cities. Goodyear workers' current hourly pay averages $2.51.

Higher Standards Not Always More Costly, Road Chief Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's highway chief, Charles M. Noble, today exhibited figures to show that building roads to meet high standards of driving safety and comfort does not necessarily mean more expensive construction.

He used, as examples, figures bid by contractors for building the 103.6-mile section of the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway from Ohio 161 north of Columbus to near Medina.

In May 1957 the Ohio Department of Highways submitted cost estimates to Congress. Noble had consulting engineers restudy the route with the idea of making standards even higher. Their estimates turned out to be 10 to 11 per cent below the first ones, he said. was split into 25 construction projects, including 11 traffic interchanges and numerous bridges carrying local roads over the freeway.

All of this work has been put under contract. Just one project remains to be bid on, a traffic interchange with Ohio 301 in Wayne County, added after initial planning.

The department estimated the work would cost $96,744,180. The low bids for the 25 projects added up to $89,332,320. Some experts have estimated four-lane superhighways in open country should cost one million dollars a mile.

"I am very well pleased with the bids, which turned out to be 7.6 per cent below the estimates," Noble said. "That puts us in a better position financially, and it shows that improved standards don't always mean more cost in construction."

The Columbus-Medina stretch is to be finished by late 1959. Eventually the freeway will extend to Cincinnati to the south and Conneaut in northeastern Ohio.

Legislation in Ohio Assembly Discussed by Rotary Speaker

A special session of the Ohio General Assembly will be announced fairly soon by Gov. C. William O'Neill and in some quarters there is a great deal of concern over what the session may produce.

This statement was made by Paul J. Daugherty, director of legislative affairs of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, in a talk before the Marion Rotary Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Major stated purpose of the session will be a discussion on extending unemployment benefits, he said. This resulted from a message by President Eisenhower to the U.S. Congress suggesting such an extension, and it is now up to the states to examine the situation in relation to their own needs.

States May Borrow Funds

States may borrow federal funds to pay extended unemployment benefits, Mr. Daugherty said, but the money must be paid back. Under the federal formula it would be paid by an increase in the federal tax rate, with the result that all businesses would bear the burden equally even though their employment pictures vary widely.

A 13-week extension of unemployment payments would provide 9 continuous months of benefits, which might create a concept of a governmental dole rather than a sincere effort to provide emergency assistance for the jobless, the speaker said.

The possible prohibition of billboards on interstate highways, sewer and water legislation and poor relief funds are other subjects that may come before the special session, Mr. Daugherty said. He pointed out that topics under consideration at a special session are limited to those designated by the governor.

Measures To Be on Ballot

The speaker touched briefly on the right-to-work petitions. He predicted the necessary 352,000 valid signatures would be obtained before the deadline, and the proposal would be placed on the November ballot.

He also pointed out that a bill providing for federations of subdivisions within a county will be on the fall ballot. This will not pertain to Marion at present, since the principal municipal unit must have more than 50,000 population, but the bill would provide a long-range answer for water, sewerage, fire protection and other services involving cities, towns and rural areas within the same county.

Ohio has been moving ahead rapidly in competition with other states, principally because of its governmental stability and favorable climate for business, Mr. Daugherty said.

Obtaining top men for government service is one of the challenges of present-day life in cities, counties, the state and nation, he said.

It is a solemn duty for every business and professional man to promote greater interest and participation in public affairs, he declared.

The speaker was introduced by Wilson Tway, program chairman for June. Guests were introduced by E. Stewart Norris.

There were five visiting Rotarians among the guests. They were: William A. Kelly of Akron, Cecil Hinman of Bowling Green, and John E. Taylor, J. L. Patterson and M. B. Richey, all of Cardington. Other guests were: Francis Hamper and Kenneth Robinson, both of Marion.

A giant new eight-color letterpress, first of its kind in the world, started operation in 1957 at Pollock Paper Corp., Columbus, O. The press prints packaging materials for the baking industry.

'Blind' Doctor Aided by Body Radar System

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — A pretty, blonde doctor of philosophy has discovered that blind people "see" obstacles by means of body radar.

To find out, 22-year-old Helga Domes placed a blindfold over her eyes and for a month lived the life of a person without sight.

"I walked through the streets of Innsbruck for four weks," she says. "I attended an opera performance and went out in the woods.

"I lived in a home for the blind and I learned their way of reading with their fingers."

Helga found herself being guided by what is called "long distance sense," a sort of body radar.

She says:

"I allowed myself to be guided by this sense. I could easily hear the sound waves reflected from obstacles. The sense worked by a sort of pressure behind the forehead as I approached an obstacle at about five feet.

"The sound waves were not only caused by noise, but also by air being thrown back from an obstacle, or even by light air movement."

Helga, her sight cut-off by seven layers of felt and motorcyclists' goggles, was a "guinea pig" of the Innsbruck Institute for Experimental Psychology.

To test her reaction, the scientists plastered her face, made face muscles rigid by injections and clamped her nose. But it turned out that all this did not handicap her newly-acquired "long-distance sense." However, as soon as her ears were stuffed up, she lost the sense and knocked against the obstacles.

In the first week of the experiment, Helga "recognized" a wall at a distance of half a yard. In the fourth week, she was able to move without hesitation in a forest, her eyes bound up as usual, without knocking against a tree.

The scientists said Helga had proved beyond doubt that "long distance sense" develops in blind people.

Helga also examined the psychological effects of blindness.

She said:

"A blind human being is suspicious. They have to rely on voices to judge people. Afterwards I often found out that I was c'heated' by some voices. If I heard a high voice, I thought of a tall, thin persons. Another time I thought the man I talked to was small, but I found out that he merely had crouched. Sometimes such things are done without purpose but result in arousing perpetual suspicion in a blind person.

"You also become frightened. I was terrorized by the noise of small objects falling to the ground or by the barking of dogs. Small, everyday things became huge problems; if I forgot, for instance, to smell the tooth paste before using it, I brushed my teeth with face cream.

"When the experiment was over and I took off the goggles and the felt strip, I was not happy at first. The world appeared strange, colors too piercing and the mountains too high. Only 24 hours afterwards was I happy again to be able to see."

MINE EXPLODER DEVELOPED. A mine-exploding roller which clears pressure-activated mines before tank tracks reach the danger point has been developed by U. S. Army engineers. Eliminating the time-consuming search for and removal of mines will help to keep armored units on the move during any future conflict. The roller, which can be assembled and installed quickly by field personnel, is made up of a series of wheels four feet in diameter and six inches thick mounted on independent shafts or axels. It is fabricated of high strength steel and will absorb much of the shock from explosion of the buried mines. (UPI Telephoto)

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers resumed their advance, but the stock market as a whole turned irregular early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

The copper shares, shading their initial gains, were ahead from fractions to a point. Gains and losses of other key stocks mostly ranged to about a point.

A sharp rise in world copper prices and a boost in prices at the custom smelter level were the main economic developments.

Kennecott was up more than two points at best in early dealings but halved the gain by afternoon. Magma, Anaconda and Phelps Dodge were ahead by major fractions.

Steels, motors and aircrafts were a bit lower. Rails moved ahead slightly on average. Oils, chemicals, utilities and radio-television were mixed. Rubbers improved.

Lorillard, Goodrich and Zenith were up about a point.

Douglas Aircraft dropped about a point.

U. S. government bonds firmed.

Lausche To Give Aid to Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Democrats running for state-wide offices probably will get a certain amount of help in their campaigns this year from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio).

However, one political observer said today that Lausche's assistance to campaigns of both Steve Young for the U.S. Senate and Michael V. DiSalle for governor will be limited.

It will not be anything like the all-out campaigns Lausche conducts for himself when he is running, the observer said. He said Lausche's senatorial duties will keep him too busy for that.

Lausche told a reporter he discussed the general election campaign with DiSalle Tuesday in the Senator's office.

"I told him I would give him help in his campaign," Lausche said.

As for Young, Lausche asserted: "I hold Steve Young in the highest esteem."

Would Sidestep Legal Issue of SUB

OIC Urges Agreement To Release Trust Funds

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Company-union agreements could make more than 15 million dollars in supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) available immediately to jobless workers, the Ohio Information Committee reports.

A letter from Fred J. Milligan, committee executive secretary, to Gov. C. William O'Neill asserts such pacts would avoid the delays and uncertainties of legislative or court action on the SUB issue.

The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the question of whether SUB is remuneration and must be deducted from state jobless benefits. But it hasn't said how soon such a decision would be reached.

O'Neill says a special session of the Legislature planned by June 30 could consider legalizing various concurrent SUB and state benefit payment contracts but GOP leaders indicate they would buck such proposals.

Notes O'Neill Observation

Milligan's letter noted O'Neill's observation at a recent news conference that 15 millions in back SUB payments could be made now if Ohio law permitted.

"The 15 million in the employers' trust funds can be paid out at any time and in any manner the employers and the unions agree," the letter said, "It is their money.

"They can amend their private contract or waive that provision in their contract which prohibits the employer from distributing the trust fund unless the State of Ohio agrees that it will not deduct SUB from state unemployment benefits.

"The issue on this point is simple. It is:

"Shall the parties to a private contract conform to the declared policy of the State of Ohio?

"Or, shall the State of Ohio change its public policy to accommodate the parties to a private contract at the expense of everyone else?"

The letter said steel firms knew when they signed SUB contracts in 1956 that the state unemployment compensation law banned SUB and state jobless benefit payments at the same time.

But, the letter continued, "The law does not prevent the employers from paying out their 15 million dollars in trust funds to the needy unemployed. The law does prevent the State of Ohio from picking up part of the tab.

Second Point

"That brings us to a clarification of a second point.

"You were quoted as saying, 'These payments, of course, are not from public funds. They would not cost the taxpayers a penny.'

"But, if the state legalizes SUB there would be public funds involved. For, if the state does not deduct SUB payments, then the state would be paying full state benefits which would greatly diminish the state unemployment compensation fund and raise the contribution rate on all 95,000 employers who support the fund.

"Even worse, the State of Ohio would be grossly discriminating against 2,300,000 other workers. . . .

"In other words, a laid-off SUB employe could receive $39 per week in state benefits plus $25 SUB for a total of $64 for doing nothing. Other laid-off employes, for working and earning $25 at a part-time job, would have that amount deducted from their $39 state benefits.

Significant Differences

"The significant differences are that the laid-off SUB employe would receive $39 per week from the state while other laid-off workers could receive only $14 because of part-time work.

"Thus, if the disputed SUB contracts were legalized, payments to their jobless SUB employes would cost the state $25 more per week than at present. And the laid-off SUB employe could receive a total of $64 in unemployment benefits while other laid-off workers could receive only $39.

"It is this discrimination and this raid on public funds which legalizing SUB would accomplish . . . .

"The blighted economy of Michigan, from whence SUB came, should be sufficient incentive for Ohio to continue its present policy of refusing to legalize it."

Milligan said copies of his letter to the governor would go to about 1,000 Ohio employers who are members of the Information Committee.

SUB contracts now cover about 270,000 Ohio employes, mainly in the steel, rubber, automotive, electrical and other industries. An estimated 40,000 jobless SUB employes are potential recipients of back payments and about one million dollars a week in continuing SUB benefits.

Wooden Indian Shakes Touring Traffic Officer

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Policeman George Smith said he got "shook up just a bit" recently when he checked what he thought was an Indian sitting in the back seat of a car parked near here late one night.

It was an Indian all right, but it was a six-foot high carved figure of a Tesuque Indian which usually stood guard at a guest lodge north of the city.

Some prankster had apparently moved the statue and later abandoned the car with it in the back seat.

Crowley Free On $883 Bond Awaiting Trial

TOKYO (AP)—Joseph P. Crowley was released from prison on bail today to await trial for the fatal beating of his brother-in-law, Connecticut socialite and businessman T. A. D. Jones, Jr.

Crowley's lawyers posted the 300,000-yen ($833.31) bail set by a district court. The 48-year-old former Yale football star eluded newsmen and photographers and left Tokyo police headquarters in a heavy drizzle half an hour before his release was announced.

His Japanese attorney, Arthur Mori, refused to say where Crowley had gone but said he was in good physical condition and "more than satisfied" with his treatment by the police.

Crowley had been in jail since May 21. No date has been set for his trial on a charge of inflicting bodily injuries resulting in death, equivalent to manslaughter in the United States.

The indictment charged that Crowley was under the influence of alcohol when he beat Jones early on the morning of May 8 in the Imperial Hotel suite they shared. The two men, business partners in New Haven, had come to Japan three days earlier to buy an oil tanker.

Frederick M. Kissinger, a Brandywine, Md., accountant who had accompanied Jones and Crowley to Tokyo, left for the United States tonight. Japanese officials had cleared him of any connection with Jones' death but had asked that he "remain and cooperate as a witness" in Crowley's trial. The Japanese made clear, however, that he was free to return to the United States.

Cincinnati Police Continue Search For Missing Man

An intensive block by block search of a six-block area on the west side failed to turn up any trace of the missing man.

But soon after Tuesday's search was called off for the day, police reported three identification cards belonging to Berry were found in a driveway just one block from where his missing auto was located.

Berry, paying a weekend visit to his son, Clifford, left his son's house May 31 to go to a nearby cafe. Witnesses said they saw Berry enter and later leave the cafe. Then he disappeared.

He is a graduate of Harding High School and a former member of Wesley Methodist Church here. His wife was before her marriage Miss Betty Cook of Marion. They are parents of two children, Sharon Kay and Edwin Eugene Davis. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of Mrs. Lowell A. Cook of 182 S. Seffner Ave. here and her husband's mother is a former Marion resident now making her home in Albuquerque, N.M.
